U. S. DEFENSE PRODUCTION SPLIT 50-50 WITH BRITAIN

F. R. Order Includes Bombers

F. D. INCREASES AID TO BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he had established a rule of thumb policy whereby Great Britain and Canada would be supplied 50 per cent of American defense items now coming off factory lines, including large bombers and other things needed both here and abroad. He said that heretofore, in regard to defense items needed both by the United States and Great Britain, this country was selling to Britain about 45 per cent of our new production and retaining about 55 per cent here.

Making plain that there would be some exceptions to his rule of thumb policy, the President said that, generally speaking, Britain would get half of needed munitions and other armaments and that this would apply to large bombing planes now coming off the line.

For a while, he said, the United States might need more than 50 per cent of some items and less in others.

Shortly after the President's announcement, the priorities board announced that the British Purchasing Commission would be permitted to negotiate orders with the American aviation industry for an additional 12,000 planes.

The President said the question about division of important defense items with Britain and Canada came up about three or four weeks ago. He said he laid down his rule of thumb policy then, but emphasized there would be exceptions.

About the British order for 12,000 additional American planes, he said the priorities board was looking into manufacturing facilities.

Hitler Broadcast Cancelled as U.S. Stations Stand By

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—The National Broadcasting Corp. today announced that a speech which Adolf Hitler was to have delivered over its Blue Network beginning at 1:15 p. m. today had been cancelled. Announcement of the cancellation was made 23 minutes after the broadcast was to have started. No reason was given. NBC's Berlin office advised that Hitler himself ordered the cancellation. Whether or not he made the speech without broadcasting could not be learned.

The Mutual Broadcasting System also had planned to carry the broadcast, which was to have lasted an hour and 45 minutes.

The original NBC announcement of the broadcast said the subject of the Fuehrer's speech and its point of origin were not known.

Tomorrow Germany celebrates the memory of the Nazi stalwarts who fell in Hitler's rise to power. It was this memorial day last year that the Fuehrer escaped by minutes from a time bomb which blasted Munich's Nazi shrine, the Buergerhof beer cellar.

Earlier today the Berlin radio broadcast a dispatch from Munich reporting that Hitler attended a commemorative gathering of Nazi veterans in Munich this evening on the eve of the Nov. 9 Nazi memorial day.

The broadcast said the party veterans "in the presence of the Fuehrer commemorated the martyrs' march to the Feldherrnhalle and the first uprising by which the protagonists of new Germany registered their protest against the ignominious peace of Versailles."

This referred to the fact that tomorrow is the anniversary of the 1923 abortive beer hall putsch which first brought Hitler and the Nazis into prominence.

NAZI RAIDERS REPORT 15 BRITISH CONVOY SHIPS SUNK

Hard on the heels of Winston Churchill's warning to Britain three days ago that England now had more to fear from raids on her shipping than Nazi bombings of the "tight little isle," Berlin today announced that German surface warships, on the loose in mid-Atlantic, had sunk an entire convoy of 15 to 20 vessels.

Berlin's claim had hardly been made when the Makay Radio in New York picked up an SOS from the British freighter Empire Dorado saying she was sinking about 300 miles west of Ireland, and that there were casualties aboard.

The message said:

"Sinking slowly. No means of getting away. All lifeboats smashed. Two rafts still alongside. Help urgently requested. Casualties aboard. Latitude 55.7 north, longitude 16.50 west."

Shipping men identified the Empire Dorado as the former American freighter Tolosa, which was purchased from the U. S. Maritime Commission last May by Runciman Limited of London for $267,187. The 5527-ton freighter was built in 1920 at Portsmouth, N. H.

Berlin's announcement today said surface warships operating on Britain's vital north Atlantic supply line from Canada and the United States had "destroyed completely" the convoy consisting of 86,000 tons of shipping.

The communique did not amplify

Landlady Says M. D. Paid Mrs. Hall's Rent

Dr. Adam E. Cole of Swampscott hired a room in Marlborough st., Back Back, for Mrs. Margaret L. Hall, paid for it and was given a key, the former landlady testified today in Superior Court.

The testimony was given by Mrs. Beatrice I. Packard, now of Dartmouth st., Back Bay, at the trial of a $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought against Dr. Cole by Walter S. Hall, 53, Boston bank clerk and ex-husband of the 39-year-old Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Packard testified that Mrs. Hall came to the Marlborough st. house in June of 1936.

"Who hired the room?" the witness was asked.

"Dr. Cole hired it," she replied.

Q—Was his name Dr. Adam E. Cole? A—That's right.

DOCTOR PAID RENT

Q—Who paid the room rent? A—Dr. Cole. He paid the first week's rent. I gave him the key.

Q—How long did this woman live there? A—Several weeks.

Q—What room did she occupy? A—Third floor rear, a room with private bath.

Q—Did Dr. Cole call there? A—Dr. Cole called two or three times a week.

Q—Whether or not he kept the key or gave it to her? A—I don't know.

Q—Whether or not Dr. Cole would drive Mrs. Hall away in his car? A—Once or twice a week he called, and practically every week-end, especially on Saturdays. She would go away with him and return on Monday.

SAW HUSBAND CRYING

Q—Did you observe his conduct in leaving? A—Yes, one time I went to answer the doorbell. It was Mr. Hall. Dr. Cole was coming down the stairs and recognized him and ran to a door to hide. It was the door to the basement. Mr. Hal went up to his wife's room and then Dr. Cole went out the door. On another occasion I saw him running down the stairs. I believe it was in the morning.

Mrs. Packard testified under cross-examination that when Dr Cole hired the room he said it was for "a young lady."

In the first or second week that Mrs. Hall was a tenant, said the witness, Hall came there, crying, and "beside himself" and asked to speak to Mrs. Packard.

"He asked," she said, "if there was any other man calling on his wife. He gave Dr. Cole's name."

SAW NOTHING WRONG

Q—There wasn't anything wrong in the conduct of Dr. Cole and Mrs. Hall, was there? A—No.

Before he completed his stay on the witness stand today, Hall himself admitted under questioning by Atty. Thomas C. O'Brien, counsel for Dr. Cole, that about 20 of the more than 25 dates the witness had previously cited as occasions when the doctor was allegedly intimate with her might be discarded.

This, the witness said, was because he had no personal knowledge in connection with those dates.

While Hall was on the witness stand, Mrs. Hall made her first appearance at the trial. She was dressed in black and wore a large black felt hat.

COUNSEL CLASH

Attys. O'Brien and Robert J. Curran, the latter counsel for Hall, clashed frequently over the admissibility of evidence during Hall's stay as a witness.

The clashes came during Curran's questioning of the husband concerning the more than 25 dates he had noted as dates on which he maintained his wife had been intimate with the doctor.

Finally Hall agreed that about 20 of the dates might be dropped and that the jury could disregard them. But he kept in the following:

March 23, 1936, at the Breakers Hotel, Lynn; Aug. 15 and 16, 1936, at the doctor's office in Swampscott; Aug. 27, 1936, at the Marlborough st. address; Nov. 8, 1936, at the doctor's office, and the night of June 20 and morning of June 21, 1938, at North Rye Beach, N. H.

THEATER USHER TESTIFIES

Herbert Frederick Church of Albemarle st., Back Bay, a WPA worker who formerly was an usher at the Gayety theater, was called to the stand.

Church testified that he saw Mr. and Mrs. Hall and Dr. Cole at the theater in June of 1937.

"Around 5 in the afternoon," said Church, "I saw Dr. Cole and Mrs. Hall. He had his arm around her. Mr. Hall rushed in and said, 'You, my doctor, with my wife.'

"He started to hit Dr. Cole with his fist. I pulled him away. The manager came along and Hall went into the manager's office."

Bergdoll Among 200 Sent to Leavenworth

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Some 200 prisoners — including Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, World War draft dodger—have been transferred from Governor's Island to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Army officials said today.

A recent order made the disciplinary barracks at Leavenworth the only Army punishment barracks in the country. Bergdoll is serving a seven-year term.

Charging him with associating with other woman and criticizing her without reason, Mrs. Rita Kaufman Lowe today had brought suit for divorce against Edmund Lowe, film leading man in Los Angeles. The couple (pictured here) were married in 1936 and separated last September.

KENNEDY WARNS U.S. ON CONVOYS

Sure and quick war will result for the United States if an American naval convoy is sent to the British war zone to return stranded Americans, Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to England, warned in Boston today.

Here for a brief check-up at Lahey Clinic after a dramatic welcome by Boston friends at the airport, the ambassador revealed that he was flatly opposed to the State Department taking any such action following Germany's refusal to guarantee safe conduct.

Although he did not specifically refer to the State Department Kennedy made his stand clear during an informal discussion of the refugee problem.

Warning that America should not enter the war "through any door, front side or back—Kennedy declared:

"If we sent a warship after them and it struck a mine we would be in the war in 15 minutes."

At the Lahey clinic on Commonwealth ave. the ambassador seemed in perfect health, with fine color in his cheeks and sparkling eyes. He joked with reporters and then solemnly emphasized the need for airplanes—in America and for England.

Asked how his physical checkup was coming along, he said it seemed all right, but that he wouldn't discuss it until it was complete.

CAPITAL SILENT

Press dispatches from Washington said department officials would not discuss the German rebuff or possible counter action, but observers believe they would move swiftly and in co-operation with the British.

The State Department was quoted a saying flatly, however, that it does not contemplate sending a naval convoy into the war zone, and that for the present the problem must remain in status quo.

Kennedy, denying rumors that he had returned home to resign, but non-committal on reports that he would assume the position of defense head in this country, referred to the problem of removing the Americans as a "ticklish one."

GREETED BY 400

A dramatic moment came as Kennedy, traveling alone, arrived at the East Boston airport to be greeted by more than 400 persons and the Boston fire department band.

Kennedy, who said he is ready to return to his post "in 24 hours

MYSTERY VEILS AUTO BOMB KILLING SCRANTON BOY, GIRL

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP)—One suspect was questioned, but dismissed, in investigation today of the bomb deaths of the son and daughter of Scranton's public health director as detectives from other States joined in a widening inquiry.

The explosion last night brought immediate death to William Rebhorn, 19, University of Scranton student, and his sister Lois, 17.

Both were mangled as one of them touched the door handle of the family car in the "Hill" residential section.

DOCTOR USUALLY DROVE

County Detective Joseph J. Rafter said the bomb apparently had been wired to explode as the door was opened.

Fifteen minutes earlier, Dr. E. H. Rebhorn, the victims' father, left home to attend a hospital meeting. Contrary to his usual custom, he left the automobile and walked.

Authorities said there was no clear motive, but indicated a possibility that a disgruntled patient might have planted the explosive.

COMPENSATION WITNESS

Dr. Rebhorn is a surgeon for a coal company and often has testified on compensation claims. He said he had "no known enemies," adding:

"If anybody had anything against me, why didn't they take it out on me and not on my children?"

Rafter said the suspect picked up today had written letters to the doctor about a job.

Bomb experts from New York, Philadelphia and New Jersey arrived today to help in the inquiry.

"We will work day and night until the perpetrator off this diabolical outrage is apprehended," declared District Attorney Michael J. Eagen.

GIRL'S ARM BLOWN OFF

The explosion was heard a mile away. It broke windows in surrounding homes.

Mrs. Rebhorn, rushing out, stumbled over the girl's body on the sidewalk, her left arm blown off. In the street lay the boy's mangled form, his right hand missing. Physicians found pieces of metal in both bodies.

The entire side of the car was blown away.

Lois, a high school senior, had just been accepted at Colby College in Maine.

Windsors Due In N. Y. Soon

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Daily News says the Duke and Duchess of Windsor are expected to be in New York sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The royal couple, says the paper, have consented to make personal appearances at a charity ball to be given for the British War Relief Society and the Allied Relief Fund, which merged forces yesterday.

Date for the ball will not be set until the Duke, now Governor-General of the Bahamas, cables the date of his arrival on a visit that is expected to last about two weeks.

4 Democrats to Lose State Posts In After-Election Shakeup

As an aftermath of the election, came reports today that the ax will fall on four Democrats holding important posts with the State government.

And from Rep. Francis X. Coyne of Dorchester comes demands that William H. Burke, Jr., "and all those affiliated with him" on the Democratic state committee resign at once because they conducted the campaign "like schoolboys."

From a source close to the Governor it was reported that the four Democrats will be replaced by Republicans.

The Democrats, who come up for reappointment next month, were mentioned as Eugene M. McSweeney, public safety commissioner; Richard D. Grant, public utilities commissioner, once a Republican; Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the commission on administration and finance, and Edmond Cote, member of the Fall River finance board.

DOWNEY MAY QUIT

Walter F. Downey, commissioner of public education, has indicated a desire to return to his post in the Boston school department, it also was said.

Coyne, in demanding Chairman Burke's immediate resignation, declared:

"President Roosevelt, under able and intelligent leadership by a competent state committee, would have carried Massachusetts by more than a quarter of a million votes. The present state committee is directly responsible for the lack of automobiles and workers at the polls, particularly in Boston, on election day."

DEVER THANKS TOBIN

On the peaceful side of the political picture was the demonstration at a Parker House dinner at which Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever publicly thanked Mayor Tobin for his loyal support in Dever's campaign for Governor.

Dever's announcement came when he and the mayor stood side by side before a group of 300 persons attending the "bachelor dinner" for City Councilor James J. Goode, Jr., of Hyde Park, who tomorrow will wed Miss Irene Wyman of Belmont.

Dever made it clear that he repudiated reports that had spread to the effect that the mayor was responsible for the defeat of Dever because the Boston vote failed to reach the anticipated estimate in favor of the Democratic banner-bearer.

TRIBUTE TO MAYOR

While asserting there was some "mystery" about the outcome of the election, Dever paid high tribute to Tobin by saying:

"I am convinced of the unalloyed loyalty, of the complete co-operation, of the deep, personal friendship which I have long cherished for my great friend, mayor of Boston, Maurice Tobin."

Meanwhile, Gov. Saltonstall designated Lieu.-Col. Edward D. Sirois, chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Raymond S. Wilkins, his personal counsel, as his representatives in the recount of votes for Governor.

Chairman Burke has indicated a petition for the recount will be filed within a few days. Apart from this petition, Burke also indicated petitions would be filed for recounts in four other state offices for Lieutenant-Governor, Attorney-General, Treasurer and Secretary of State.

The recount in the gubernatorial race is expected to begin the first week in December. The final unofficial count gave Saltonstall 997,285, Dever 988,228, a plurality of 9057 for Saltonstall.

FIGHTER—Although defeated, Wendell L. Willkie emerged from the presidential fight with considerable honor, having polled the largest popular vote of any losing candidate. Here, he reads some thousands of telegrams in New York.

Willkie Goes On Air Monday

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Wendell Willkie, in a coast-to-coast radio address Monday night, will chart the course which he believes his followers should follow during President Roosevelt's third term.

The address, from 10:30 to 11 p. m., will be carried by NBC, CBS and MBS, which have donated the time to the defeated Republican standard-bearer.

"I think I owe it to the people who voted for me to make this broadcast," he said yesterday. "It is both a duty and an obligation on my part to state my views.

"I will be speaking for myself and will be expressing my views as one who was a candidate for President of the United States and who received so many millions of votes."

Willkie told newsmen the volume of mail from his supporters since the election was "fantastic."

He said the tenor of the letters was that "the cause which I represented was basic and vital to this nation and must be kept alive."

He said he and Mrs. Willkie planned to leave late Monday night or early Tuesday for a vacation. They will start the vacation at Rushville, Ind., Mrs. Willkie's home town.

NO CABINET BID BY F. D. TO WILLKIE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (INS)—President Roosevelt today set at rest—temporarily at least—rumors that he would offer Wendell L. Willkie a cabinet post.

He said he had given possibility of cabinet changes no consideration.

Refreshened after a long night's sleep, the President told his first press conference since his re-election that so far as future legislative plans were concerned, he could announce nothing until he conferred with Congressional leaders Monday and Tuesday.

DEBT LIMIT CHANGE SEEN

Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau yesterday had said that he favored Congress immediately raising the debt limit to $60,000,000,000 or $65,000,000,000 before adjourning.

Roosevelt was questioned on possible cabinet shake-ups. One reporter specifically mentioned Willkie.

The President replied with considerable emphasis, reading from a newspaper that these cabinet change suggestions were not emanating from "New Deal circles," but were being written in that particular newspaper office.

He disclosed with a smile that he had been way off on his election guess, which was 340 electoral votes for himself.

SURPRISED BY VOTE MARGIN

A reported inquired what surprised him in the election. About 110 electoral votes, he replied, but smilingly declined to go into detail.

One reporter asked whether he would make a definite fourth-term statement. Rather sharply, the President told his interrogator to go back to grade school and learn elementary English, then read his pre-election statements again.

In those the President had said definitely there would be no fourth term.

President to Rest On Yacht Next Week

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he would take a three or four-day cruise on the yacht Potomac next week to rest up from campaigning. He will leave Tuesday or Wednesday.

NEW ADVISORY BOARDS SET TO AID BAY STATE DRAFTEES

With East Boston's new advisory board for draft registrants taking the lead, 173 such organizations started work today throughout the State to facilitate entry to service in the United States' armed forces of thousands of Bay State men.

Coincidentally, official announcement was made that the second draft call will be forthcoming early next week. First call men will be inducted during five days starting Nov. 13. An undetermined number will be called Dec. 1 for training at Fort Devens, dependent on condition of building operations there.

AID FOR DRAFTEES

Composed of prominent lawyers, other professional and business men, the new advisory boards today are providing free advice to all draft registrants in preparing their questionnaires.

At East Boston, Board 12, on Meridian st., Guy Colombo, 24, of London st., East Boston, today was first in the State to avail himself of the new advisory board service.

"I don't like Italy's attitude," he told Secretary Cosmo D. Nicastro at board headquarters.

Colombo, a printer's apprentice, unmarried and without dependents, said he was anxious "to get into service as soon as possible."

EAGER FOR SERVICE

His draft number is 4382 and his order number 4828. Expressing fear that the large size of both his assigned numbers meant delay in starting his year's training, Colombo said he visited the board:

"To find out how soon I can start."

A second registrant at the East Boston board was Rocco Caristo, 27, of Princeton st., East Boston. Caristo was the first volunteer in East Boston after drawing of his master number, 5129, in October. His order number is 318.

Non-committal concerning his reasons for wanting to get into service right away, Caristo told board officials:

"I came from Italy in 1921. My father's dead. My mother has means of support."

Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, First Corps commander, indicated that the number of men called for the second induction will depend on the building program at Fort Devens. Preparation is being made there for the 253 expected Nov. 18, 281 on Nov. 19, 241 on the 20th, and 209 on the 22nd.

Regular army recruiting stations have been opened at the following New England points to expedite volunteer enlistments:

Bangor, Me., 1st Lieut. Oscar Walker, Inf. Res., Army recruiting office, 77 Central st.; Manchester, N. H., 1st Lieut. Frank W. Marshall, Jr., Inf. Res., Old State Armory; Rutland, Vt., Capt. Allen P. Davis, Cav. Res., State Armory; Boston, Lieut.-Col. Conrad Skladal, U. S. A. Ret., South Armory; Worcester, Capt. Joseph J. Benoit, Inf. Res., Lamartine School; Springfield, Capt. James P. Powers, Field Artillery Res., G. A. R. Hall; Providence, Capt. Donald R. Willard, Inf. Res., Cranston st., Armory; Hartford, Lieut.-Col. Brock Putnam, Cav., Y. M. C. A.

Recount Likely In Michigan

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (AP)—Democrats and Republicans indicated they might demand recounts today in the wake of hair-breadth decisions in Tuesday's election.

Final unofficial returns swung the State into the Republican column nationally and indicated election of a Republican for attorney-general, and a Democrat for State treasurer, all by less than 7000 votes in a total of more than 2,000,000.

The unofficial tabulation gave Willkie 1,032,837 votes to 1,025,963 for Roosevelt.

SURVIVOR PICTURES CRASH OF TACOMA BRIDGE

(Professor F. B. Farquharson was on the writhing Tacoma Narrows bridge when its center span collapsed into Puget sound yesterday. He had been engaged in laboratory research on the $6,400,000 structure for several months at the University of Washington in an attempt to correct the sway of the span which had earned the name of "Galloping Gertie." His account of the bridge collapse follows.)

By PROF. F. B. FARQUHARSON

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 8 (AP)—I was the only person on the Narrows bridge when it collapsed. It wasn't bravery on my part. I didn't believe it would happen, and I was anxious to get a motion picture of the unusual way the bridge was acting for my official records.

When I arrived about 9:45 a. m., the bridge was moving in a normal way, in the familiar rippling motion we were studying and seeking to correct.

Half an hour later it started a lateral twisting motion in addition to its vertical waves. It had never done that before. There was considerable noise of stress and strain. As the motion increased in severity, lamp posts were jerked back and forth in a side motion and at least six snapped off.

I noticed one auto stalled in the middle of the span. Previously I had seen two men near the car. They were deathly sick. They stumbled and crawled to the Tacoma end.

I looked in the car and saw a dog in there. Then I went ashore to get some more films for my camera, and walked out on the careening span again.

About 10 minutes later, as the pitching, twisting and rolling increased, the dog occurred to me again. I staggered out to mid-span again and opened the door and tried to coax him out. The animal, sick and terrified, bit me on a knuckle. He stayed and plunged to death in his master's car.

GIRDER BULGES OUT

A few minutes later I saw a side girder bulge out on the Gig Harbor side, due to a failure, but though the bridge was buckling up at an angle of 45 degrees, the concrete didn't break up. Even then I thought the bridge would be able to fight it out.

Looking toward the Gig Harbor end, I saw the suspenders—the verticle steel cables—snap off and a whole section of the bridge caved in.

The main cable over that part of the bridge, freed of its weight, tightened like a bowstring, flinging the suspenders into the air like so many fish lines.

I realized the rest of the main span of the bridge was going, so I started for the Tacoma end. Behind me, the rest of the bridge plunged into the Sound.

BRIDGE DROPS

By that time I was between the tower on the Tacoma side and the Tacoma shore. I thought I was out of danger, but suddenly the bridge dropped from under me. I fell and broke one of my cameras. I got up and started, only to have the bridge fall out from under me again.

The part of the bridge I was on had dropped fully 30 feet, due to the sudden shift of weight on the main cable.

It was one of those things that couldn't happen once in a thousand years—a combination of conditions that no one anticipated.

Farquharson suffered only minor bruises and abrasions. It was announced today that plans for rebuilding the bridge, the world's third longest suspension span, would be made at once.—Editor's note.

Stay in Tax Case Denied McGlue

Charles H. McQlue, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee and the State Ballot Law Commission, appeared in federal court today to show cause why he should not have to pay the United States $6553 in income taxes, penalties, and interest.

McGlue, who served in Plymouth County Jail from January to June on a federal income tax charge, told Eugene Black, chairman of the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals, that he had received no mail while he was at the jail.

"I got no notice from the government about this," he testified, asking time in which to clear the matter up.

"I'm not firmly convinced you didn't deliberately neglect to open the letter," Black said, ordering a hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Fake Doctor Gets 3 Years

Pleadnig guilty to practicing medicine without being registered and to immoral behavior, Charles Henry Burkman King, 31, a lodger, giving an address on Asylum st., South End, today was sentenced by Judge Charles S. Sullivan in the Charlestown Municipal Court to three years in the House of Correction at Deer Island.

King, police charged, impersonated a physician and an FBI officer, went to the home of Mrs. Sarah Boudurea, wother of three, on Chelsea st., Charlestown, Oct. 31, and said he was a physician in the welfare department assigned to investigate her case. He made an examination and said he would return later.

Police say King, deported two years ago, re-entered the country in September. He had a book, police say, with names and addresses of 30 women.

YORES TRULY, RAYMOND'S

Mayor Ingalls, Aide Deny Bribe Charges

Mayor Louis F. Ingalls and City Solicitor John J. Ginneti of Marlboro were arraigned on a total of 12 charges before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick in Middlesex Superior Court today.

Both pleaded not guilty to all the charges and both were allowed to go on their own recognizance. A date for the continuance was not set.

Mayor Ingalls

Against Mayor Ingalls were two charges of accepting bribes, two of requesting bribes, and one of conspiring to request bribes; against Atty. Ginneti were two counts of conspiracy to accept bribes, one of conspiracy to request counts of being accessory before the fact, bribes, and four Ingalls was represented by former State Auditor Francis X. Hurley and Ginneti by Asa Allen.

Meantime, Investigators from the district attorney's office delved deeper into charges of graft and corruption.

The six months' probe climaxed by secret "job selling" indictments against the Marlboro officials was touched off by angry charges of a group of citizens. That the investigation has already spread to another city in Middlesex County and sifted closely similar claims was indicated by a reliable source.

So quietly did investigators operate that first news of the 12 secret indictments against Mayor Ingalls and the solicitor came when Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford of Middlesex County notified counsel for the two men to have them in Middlesex Superior Court today.

Army Driver's Woe Mounts

Running through a red light can cause trouble enough when you're a civilian—but if you're in the army it really brings high-powered grief.

Witness the case of Pvt. William W. Wood, attached to the medical department at the Watertown Arsenal, charged with wheeling a United States Army ambulance through a red light on Soldiers' Field rd., Sept. 17.

The police haled him into Brighton District court. But today Asst. U. S. Atty. George F. Garrity filed a petition with the clerk of federal court asking that the case be transferred to federal jurisdiction.

So Pvt. Wood will also have to appear in federal court, on Nov. 19.

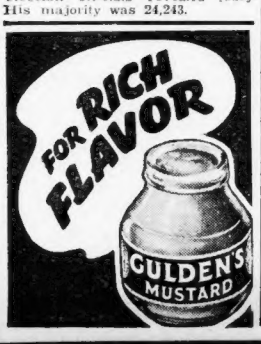
Babson Head Leaves For Sales Meeting

Pres. Carl D. Smith of the Babson Institute of Business Administration left last night for Cleveland to attend a two-day meeting of the National Association of Sales Training Executives.

Delegates are educational directors of leading industrial and manufacturing plants.

TINKHAM SETS RECORD

Congressman George Holden Tinkham won re-election by the largest vote he has ever received, election officials revealed today. His majority was 24,243.



JIM ROOSEVELT PULLS BONER IN MARINE ORDER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (INS)—Five hundred and fifty Marine Corps Reserve troops and 22 officers were ready to entrain for active duty at Camp Elliot near San Diego.

The 22nd Battalion was mustered on the parade grounds near the armory, and the young captain suddenly barked:

"Left face!"

The men obeyed to the letter—and stood facing a cement wall, with their backs toward their captain—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President.

Capt. Roosevelt quickly saw his error, barked another command and the company turned to its proper position.

FEARS MOUNT FOR MISSING N.Y. GIRL HONOR STUDENT, 10

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Aroused parents today watched squads of detectives converge on the two-block area from Brook ave. to East 138th st., the Bronx, in search of 10-year-old Genevieve Connolly.

Fears mounted hourly for the red-haired, blue-eyed girl who vanished Wednesday night after a visit to a chum's house. She was known for her quiet behavior and only recently won a school prize for good deportment.

GENEVIEVE CONNOLLY, 10
Feared Kidnapped

Three men living in a house adjoining that of Genevieve's chum, Irene O'Brien, have been under questioning by police for hours. All are middle-aged.

Emergency squads began search of all vacant buildings and possible hiding places.

With the girl, an honor student at St. Luke's Parochial School, missing 36 hours, a police check discounted theories she had gone to homes of any friends or relatives.

The three men being questioned said they had spent Wednesday evening together. One told of meeting the girl and sending her to a candy store four blocks away for cigarettes and of giving her two cents as reward.

The girl left her chum, Irene O'Brien, about 8:40 p. m. Wednesday to be at home by 9 p. m.

Genevieve's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connolly, notified police two hours after her expected arrival.

THANK-YOU TOUR FOR BUCKLEY

By JAMES F. McENANEY

When you read this, Thomas J. Buckley, state auditor-elect and now "the man everybody knows," will be living another chapter in his sudden and unique career.

Accompanied by this reporter, Buckley is moving slowly up Cape Cod today and thanking his campaign workers and voters along the route.

Buckley's stops are at gas stations, at fire houses, at dogcart lunch wagons where guys named Joe and Bill and Pete, after talking with the candidate before election, spread the word to the customers that this Buckley seemed like a real lad and why not give him a vote.

Places like that—a police station, a trench where WPA workers in gloves and mufflers and chill-reddened noses hailed him as Tom and yelled congratulations.

Buckley had spoken to these workers during his unique person-to-person campaign, and had won them over and, through them, had won over countless other votes.

RESTING AT HOTEL

It might just as well be revealed now where Buckley has been resting since election day with this reporter, and where he rested after the primaries in September—because the departure was made from there around noon today by boat.

It has been said that he was vacationing on Cape Cod, but actually Buckley and this reporter have been at Prof. Charlie Bell's Plaza Hotel at Vineyard Haven.

The professor, who also runs a dance school on Martha's Vineyard and one in New York, is an old friend of Auditor-elect Buckley and was a considerable factor in harvesting a big vote for Buckley among the island populace.

HAS PERSONALITY, CHARM

This new officeholder unmistakably has personality and a certain charm about him and he'll probably surprise a lot of persons on Beacon Hill after the turn of the year—and in a pleasant way.

But he has no aspirations to be governor—not soon, at any rate—and he took care to stress today that reports of his intention to run for governor in two years are all wet.

His purpose now is to prepare for the task of administering the state auditor's office to the best of his ability, with the advice, he said today, of his "cabinet."

This is a behind-the-scenes group of business and professional men, including experienced auditors, but Buckley will be the boss, he said, and the whole will make for an efficient conduct of the office—as he promised the nearly 1,000,000 of the electorate who voted for him.

TRAINS GUNS ON BURKE

Buckley said today that he wishes to correct another impression that may have gotten around inadvertently—that he is at odds with Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever as a result of the campaign.

That also is not true, Buckley emphasized in declaring that Dever was helpful and co-operative at all times, as were other members of the ticket.

The auditor-elect's grievance is particularly against Chairman William H. Burke of the Democratic state committee and Rep. Paul A. McCarthy of Somerville, the state committee treasurer. They ignored and snubbed him, Buckley said, and treated him as an interloper.

As Buckley today worked his way slowly along the Cape, he said he will visit Boston over the week-end to thank supporters here.

"I want especially to thank the women who helped me," he added, "Some of the pols tried to let me down, all right, but most of the women were fine—especially the women members of the Democratic State Committee and the women delegates to the State Convention at Springfield."

Rochester-tailored Overcoats are NOT always expensive!

That's the way it used to be. But no more—if you know your way around! Not so far back, MR. BIG was the only citizen who could afford that luxury—a Rochester-tailored overcoat. He selected it in red plush surroundings, payed plenty, and wore it with a proud swelling of the chest. And rightfully so. A Rochester-created overcoat was—and still is—the masterpiece of tailoring art. Well, this year you and you and I are going to join Mr. Big in the enjoyment of Rochester's suave style and skillful needlework. And we're going to do it at Bond's—without fancy prices! You see, Bond is the only retail clothier in America with a plant in Rochester. The Bond store near you is part of that plant. Every business man knows such a streamlined system cuts costs. So why go overboard, for a taste of Rochester's famous quality? Go to Bond's, instead!

Missing Hub Banker Home; To Test Sanity

After refusing to reveal where he had been since he vanished nearly two months ago, A. Linscott Manning, 55, former Boston banker and treasurer of a distilling company, was sent to Psychopathic Hospital today by Judge Clifford B. Sanborn in Dedham court.

Manning suddenly reappeared yesterday at his home in Fells rd., Wellesley, and it was said he had gone into seclusion.

Today in court, however, James Cavanaugh of the Wellesley police, told Judge Sanborn that Manning was twice arrested on a drunkenness charge yesterday in that town, the first time in the early afternoon and again in the evening.

Manning pleaded guilty to both charges. Judge Sanborn asked:

"Where have you been?"

"I have nothing to say," was Manning's reply.

The judge repeated his question and Manning answered:

"I know where I've been, but I can't tell."

"You need to be examined," commented the court.

Then he ordered a 10-day examination period for Manning at Easton Psychopathic Hospital and continued the court case to Nov. 18.

Atty. John Flynn of Waltham, representing the family, told the court that Manning had suffered a fall from a horse a year ago and suggested that the injuries received then may have something to do with his condition now.

Manning disappeared Sept. 11 while his wife and their three children were summering at Hampton Beach, N. H. He was reported then to have $15,000 or $20,000 on his person, and police, for a time, suspected possible foul play.

Doris Duke to Give Estrangement Stand

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP)—Doris Duke Cromwell, sailing tonight for Honolulu, good-naturedly told a reporter "you're very curious" when he asked if she planned to divorce James H. R. Cromwell, who admitted yesterday they are estranged.

"Divorce?" she echoed a question. "I do not follow you."

She intimated she might make a statement at sailing time.

JOB SALE RACKET PROBED

Despite claims of a former civil service clerk as he headed for State Prison, Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford today pressed investigation into a civil service job selling racket said to have mulcted Greater Bostonians of thousands of dollars.

Edward A. McLaughlin, 28, of High st., Waltham, admitted his guilt and received a three to four year prison term. Protesting he alone was involved, McLaughlin told the court:

"Only I'm to blame. I knew what I was doing."

PLEADS GUILTY

Bradford labeled McLaughlin a "low-down chiseling fixer, guilty of reaping a harvest out of false oaths and dragging the names of innocent public officials into his crimes," as he moved for a stiff sentence.

McLaughlin pleaded guilty to specific charges of being a common and notorious thief and larceny in three counts of $450 from Lawrence Quinn, a Newton resident, who sought a civil service rating on the police list.

Quinn complained that he paid the money on McLaughlin's promise to place his name on the eligible list without an examination. McLaughlin was a clerk in the Civil Service Commission. Quinn's name didn't appear on the list, and his complaint brought forward a disabled Stoneham veteran who had paid $125 for a certificate of eligibility for a motor vehicle inspector's rating, which later proved to be a forgery.

MULCTED OF $80

A Roslindale man, Bradford said, was mulcted of $80 he paid to McLaughlin on the latter's promise to place his name on the Unemployment Compensation Commission list.

Judge Frederick W. Fosdick, who sentenced McLaughlin, declared:

"When the victim is looking for unlawful advantage it is a very pernicious influence on the body politic."

CROSSLEY POLL HIT TRUE NOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—How the Crossley poll, printed daily in Hearst newspapers, so accurately and helpfully forecast the result of Tuesday's presidential election, was revealed today by Archibald M. Crossley, head of Crossley Incorporated, international research organization.

Mr Crossley gave interesting data on the manner in which this na-

[illegible]

Most significant among the numerous figures published during the course of the Crossley poll seems to be the trend of the shifting vote.

With the exception of a series of checkups, the last poll was taken on Oct. 29, one week before the election.

55 PCT. ROOSEVELT

At that time each person voting was asked when he reached his decision. For the eight out of 10 who had decided more than a month previously, the figures stood—55 per cent Roosevelt and 45 per cent Willkie

Persons who made up their mind 3 to 4 weeks before Oct. 29 were deciding in favor of Willkie in a ratio of 58 to 42. Those deciding two weeks before this date were moving toward Willkie at the rate of 55 to 45.

But by the time the Roosevelt campaign began in earnest the decisions had dropped to a 51 to 49 basis—a very considerable swing toward Roosevelt for the period Oct. 22 to 29. Following the Roosevelt visit to New England, checkups noted a definite trend away from Willkie in that section.

On the other hand in the State of Oregon some last minute trend was noted by telegraphic poll of the city of Portland, toward Willkie.

VISITS RESPONSIBLE

It is believed that the effect of the Roosevelt campaign, after it got started, was particularly heavy in those sections that he visited but undoubtedly spread by radio across the country.

This belief is strengthened by the fact that when those undecided two weeks previously were interviewed the Saturday before election, a distinct tendency was found for these to favor Roosevelt. Willkie's last appearances were in New Jersey and in New York.

The general trend, therefore, seemed somewhat on the Roosevelt side and on that account this poll stated that Roosevelt was expected to be the winner and might have a very substantial electoral majority. The possible Roosevelt vote was given as 488 with at least 246 as sure for Roosevelt, and only 43 sure for Willkie

CORRECT AUGURY

The poll itself operated by interviewing in 19 states considered pivotal, and of those 19 the following were correctly given to Roosevelt in the complete poll by fractional points to three full points.

Connecticut, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Wyoming, California.

The state of Colorado was correctly given to Willkie. The states of Massachusetts, Illinois and Pennsylvania were put down as a 50-50 tie with a notation that a week-end telegraphic check in Boston showed considerable Roosevelt strength, and that Pennsylvania might slide either way. The following states were called on the Willkie side by a narrow margin

Indiana, 53 per cent; Michigan, 53 per cent; (with notation that Labor situation might slide this down to 51 per cent), Wisconsin, 51 per cent.

Considerable has been written on the question of the statistical limitations of a poll. Any poll is considered subject to a minimum of three points deviation one way or another.

FOUR DEVIATED

The only states in this poll that deviate more than that amount on the basis of incomplete information are the small states of New Hampshire and Rhode Island, plus California and Connecticut, which deviated four points.

In this election the maximum deviation was necessary because of the tremendous number of variables involved.

This poll made a definite statement on the Roosevelt side and its indications were for a very comfortable margin.

Labor Peace Seen at Hand

FITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP)- A growing belief that labor peace may be an immediate result of the election was evident today in high circles here of both the CIO and A. F. of L.

It was based primarily upon the increasing conviction that CIO Chieftain John L. Lewis will make good his pre-election promise to step aside in event President Roosevelt won.

Leaders expected Roosevelt to request a reconvening of peace negotiating committees of the rival organizations. The CIO meets Nov. 18 in Atlantic City and the AFL at New Orleans Nov. 19.

G. O. P. GAINS ASSURE STIFFER CONGRESS BATTLES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Resurgent Republican strength reflected in the steadily growing totals of Tuesday's presidential vote pressed today some stiff political tussles over domestic issues in the months ahead.

As new tabulations swelled President Roosevelt's third term vote to greater proportions, and simultaneously raised Wendell L. Willkie's record Republican ballot total it became increasingly clear that on many policies the Democratic Administration in the next four years would face a more determined and enthusiastic opposition than it has in the last eight.

Whether that legislative conflict would center entirely on controversies already familiar, or whether new elements might appear, was still a matter of conjecture, pending declarations of intentions by the leaders of both parties.

President Roosevelt gave no indication of his campaign of contemplating a major program of new legislation for submission to the next Congress in January.

The first sound new statement of Republican aims to be made since the election was given by Willkie Monday night in an address broadcast from New York. Announcing this last night after a conference with Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. and other party leaders, Willkie said that "in view of the fact that between 22,000,000 and 23,000,000 people voted for me I feel an obligation to state my position."

Latest tabulations of the election results, meanwhile, gave this picture of the standing of two candidates with 129444 voting units already counted out of 127,245:

President Roosevelt—Carried 38 States with a total electoral vote of 449. His popular vote stood at 26,265,131.

Wendell L. Willkie—Carried 10 States with a total electoral vote of 82. His popular vote stood at 21,787,102.

The Republican reaction to this total, the highest ever won by a Republican candidate, was summed up yesterday by Martin

Announcing for "national unity" and for a "strong defense," he said "It is our purpose to take full advantage of the new and progressive leadership and support what has come to us in this campaign."

The new Senate will have 28 Republican members, as against the present 24; 66 Democrats compared with 69 at present, one Independent and one Progressive.

In the House, the Democrats picked up 9 seats for a total of 267. Republicans elected 162 members. At present 258 of the 435 two Progressives, one Farmer-House members are Democrats, Laborite, one American 167 are Republicans and there are and six vacancies.

STIRRING LOVES RETOLD

The widow of Fremont Older, one of the West Coast's famed breed of newspapermen, has written another book, "Love Stories of Old California," which was on sale here today and should commend a large audience.

She tells 24 tender tales that will delight any woman's heart and a man's as well, whether the reader be looking for reading to pass the time pleasantly or educative entertainment.

ROMANCE OF 1776

The first of Mrs. Older's stories begins in '76, a year in which New Englanders were rather busy with the British and may have forgotten that there were also historical episodes being enacted in other parts of this great country.

This first story, "Love Rides Into California," is the romance of Dona Maria Feliciano Arballo de Guterriez, an entrancing 20-year-old widow whose heart was constantly besieged as she pioneered into Upper California with the intrepid Captain Anza.

The last in the book is the love story of Robert Louis Stevenson, a New England favorite, and his Fanny Osbourne, in 1880.

ATHERTON FOREWORD

Gertrude Atherton, whose own flaming pen has placed her at the head of many a best-seller list, has written a foreword to Mrs. Older's book which better describes its worth than any ordinary review would.

"No love story worthy of record during those 106 years has escaped her discerning eye," says Mrs. Atherton. "She has left little for any one else to work on."

"Love Stories of Old California" is published by Coward-McCann, Inc., and sells for $3.50.

JEWISH BANS PLANNED

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 8 (INS)—The Bulgarian government today placed before Parliament a bill barring Jews from the army, public services, the press, major business enterprises, the arts and farming.

New Greek Gains; Stop Foe

ATHENS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Italian forces were reported today to have been thrown back by Greece's defenders, both in the center sector of the mountainous border front and on the northeastern wing, where the Greeks have been in Albania since the start of the war 12 days ago.

The gains on the right wing were described as small, but those in the center as important.

The center section is where a large number of Italians were reported trapped some days ago according to dispatches from the front and the encircled area is being encircled now, it was said.

It was the high command announced that all attacks on the Greek left wing, along the main Corytsa of the Metsovo line, near the Albanian border, had been thrown back.

It was not thought the full force of their mechanized forces into the battle to crack the ancient Greek coast in a drive toward Ioannina.

Artillery blasted along the entire front with heavy fighting on a fairly heavy scale, it was said, but Greek field artillery and anti-tank guns were most active in the protection of the coastal route to Ioannina.

Neutral military experts said the Greek positions now are as good as or better than they were on the first day of the Italian offensive.

They said that the Greek advance into Albania on the Macedonian front more than offset their withdrawal 100 miles to the southwest in the Epirus region.

Everywhere, according to these observers, the Greeks apparently are operating in accordance with well-laid plans and with no break in their communications or supply organization. Both army and civilian morale appeared high, under Greeks previously had acknowledged a slight retreat had been repulsed.

A government spokesman declared:

"The situation is thoroughly satisfactory."

Elsewhere on the 100 mile front along the Greek-Albanian border from the Ionian sea to the Yugoslav frontier heavy exchanges of artillery fire were reported.

KENNEDY URGES U. S. TAKE CARE

if necessity warrants," said he would leave for California Sunday to see his son, Jack. After that he said he would go to Florida until after the Christmas holidays.

Expressing pessimism as to Britain's ultimate fate, Kennedy nevertheless voiced the opinion that the German invasion of the British Isles is off until the German air force can overcome the resistance of the R. A. F.

"And I don't think the Germans can do it," he added.

"It is imperative that the United States act swiftly during the next few months," Kennedy warned. "But our action must be dominated by the selfish consideration of what is to the best interests of the United States," he added.

"But regardless of reason or prejudice, the fact remains that help should be given to Britain, because it is to our best interests. Britain must be kept strong, while we prepare. All that we do not need in the building of our own defense should be given to Britain. The help we give now will serve as an insurance policy for us later," he said.

MUST HAVE PLANES

"An air force is imperative," he said. "You could appreciate this better if you had seen, as I have, a small band of cocky boys in the R. A. F. keep the Germans right where they wanted them.

"So, we must not only furnish Britain with all the planes we can to keep her fighting while we prepare, but we must build ourselves a strong air force.

"No matter how strong a navy is, this war has proved it has trouble functioning efficiently within 200 miles of an enemy air force's bases."

Although he had experienced 241 air raids during the last year and had bombs dropped near the embassy and his home, he was in an air raid shelter only twice, Kennedy said.

"Once was on an inspection tour. The other time was when I was with Chamberlain at a Parliament meeting and everyone was forced to seek shelter.

"But there is no fear in England. Talk of a peace is just a rumor. England is in no mood for a peace. She is confident of victory."

"The King and Queen are indifferent to personal safety," he said. "They are brave, go everywhere, meet everyone. They have set a great example for their people and have earned their love and respect."

Tobin to Attend Defense Parley

Mayor Tobin today was appointed a representative to the conference in Washington Nov. 12 of various city officials who are studying the part municipal fire departments will play in the national defense program.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York, president of the U. S. conference of mayors, named Mayor Tobin. The conference will be held under auspices of the National Defense Advisory Committee.

Fire Commr. William Arthur Reilly of Boston will accompany Mayor Tobin, it was announced.

Commr. Reilly has been studying fire fighting under conditions experienced in London during the present bombardment.

BRITISH, NAZI FLIERS DUEL HIGH OVER LONDON STREETS

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Invading air raiders attacked London and widely scattered areas of England today, following up a night of blows which British reports said apparently were aimed at Britain's industry, transport and civilian morale.

British planes engaged the invaders high over one London area when intermittent reports told of dogfights.

Anti-aircraft batteries went into action shortly before the first daytime alert sounded in mid-morning as the defenses sought to turn the raiders away from the city.

RAIDERS OVER MIDLANDS

Five bombs plunged down on one southeastern town, striking a working class district and causing three casualties.

The "raiders passed" signal ended London's first day raid alert at noon.

Raiders also were reported over the Midlands during the morning and reports of anti-aircraft gunfire disclosed that a large library, a children's hospital and a Catholic home for the people were hit. Casualties were few.

Fire [illegible] started in the library [illegible] but a short blaze [illegible] city.

One raider machine-gunned workers in a London suburb.

GUNFIRE HEARD IN LONDON

Shortly after the second alarm shrilled in early afternoon fighting planes again wove a pattern of vapor trails in the sky.

Distant gunfire could be heard.

Observers reported strong forces of British and German planes maneuvered over the channel about noon. They said the Germans were turned back.

Bombing was reported in the industrial Midlands early this afternoon. Raiders also were seen to be near Liverpool.

Last night the Germans appeared to have used Junkers 88s, carrying the heaviest type bombs. One source said Defiants new British night fighters, joined defense formations.

KRUPP WORKS BOMBED

British bombers struck a heavy blow at the German Krupp munitions works at Essen during the night and inflicted "severe damage," the air ministry reported.

A concentrated attack was made on the German submarine base at Lorient.

Other targets were listed as a synthetic oil [illegible] at Cologne reported fired; blast furnaces at Duisseldorf and Oberhausen, docks on the Dortmund Ems canal, the port of Duisburg, shipping in Dunkirk harbor and airdromes.

High Order Awarded British Envoy to U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—King George today conferred a knighthood of the Order of the Thistle, one of Britain's most distinguished orders, on the Marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States.

Lord Lothian is in England on a furlough.

Nazis Sink Convoy

the announcement. But informed quarters said that the convoy was made up of from 15 to 20 commercial vessels and that all the tonnage destroyed was commercial.

The convoy was said to have been heavily guarded by British warships.

(In London authoritative circles belittled the claim that the convoy had been sunk. The claims were characterized as "unlikely."—Editor's note.)

S O S messages from two British merchant vessels last Tuesday, the 16,698-ton Ranjitiki and the 4952-ton Corinth City, indicated that attack took place about midway between Ireland and Newfoundland. They reported that one of Germany's pocket battleships was shelling them. Nothing has been heard from either the Ranjitiki or the Corinth City since and the British admiralty has made no announcement concerning them.

The position given by the Empire Deeds in her S O S today is not far from the scene of Tuesday's attack.

With the scuttling of the pocket battleship Graf Spee in Montevideo harbor last December, Germany is known to have two of the pocket battleships left, the Lutzow and Admiral Scheer. The Lutzow was formerly the Deutschland.

The German radio today declared that the following conclusions could be drawn:

"The attack of the German units was made with striking quickness, because from the other ships sunk not even S O S signals were caught by American radio stations.

"In a false feeling of security, the leaders of the convoy had not reckoned with dangers from attacks in this part of the Atlantic ocean.

"Their confidence in the scope of British naval protection thus has been sorely destroyed."

Churchill, in his warning Tuesday, pointed out that the British navy, because of the vast territory it must cover and the many demands made of it, was finding the going hard and was under a "grevious burden" because of the ever growing U-boat depredations.

For the past two days German reports have told of a growing aerial offensive against British shipping, as a supplement to the counter-blockade by U-boats and surface raiders.

labor, and the assembly phase and also figuring on possible shortages of raw materials.

NO SHORTAGE OF STEEL

The steel situation was considered yesterday, he added, and the conclusion was reached that there would be no ingot shortage this winter, because sufficient ore was on hand.

The 12,000 planes, the board said today will be built in existing plants and in other facilities now developing.

Great Britain already has orders in effect in this country for 14,000 planes, President Roosevelt said in his Boston campaign address last week. At the same time he had announced that Britain had asked permission to order 12,000 additional.

DELIVERY DATE UNCERTAIN

The board said today it was intended, under plans now being devised, to gear construction of the British planes to American production in such a way as to prevent interference with American defense requirements.

"Thee question of delivery priorities is beingg studied," the board said in a brief formal statement. "They will be fixed at appropriate times as production progresses."

There was no announcement as to when the ships might be ready for delivery.

MARINES OFF 'MID TEARS, CHEERS

The Girl He Left Behind—Mrs. Nora Connolly, whose son Tom left with some 300 others of the Second Battalion of the Marine Corps Reserve, waves tearfully at the train this morning, woebegone over having just missed him. The girl is Dorothy Connolly, Tom's sister. Marines are bound for Quantico, Va.

Boston Evening American Photos

To the accompaniment of tears and laughter, martial music and hasty kisses, 300-odd men and officers of the Second Battalion of the United States Marine Corps reserve left Boston today.

They were bound, by train, for active duty at Quantico, Va.

They will be forged into the ancient, glory-rimmed tradition of the proudest arm of the United States fighting forces.

Founded on Nov. 10, 1775, the "Soldiers of the Sea" are a soldier outfit, but part of the Navy have an almost religious pride in their corps, based on the glorious legends of men who have been "first to fight" almost since the beginning of their nation's history.

"SOLDIERS OF THE SEA"

The Marines, too, have fought many a time when the nation was at peace, and theirs is an epic tradition, come of men who fought and died while others lived in ease and luxury, who burned with martial fever while others loafed at their jobs.

There are only 40,000 men and officers in the corps today, but they are drilled in an almost religious perfection as the finest body of fighting men in the world.

They cling to their traditions of impeccable appearance, still have dress uniforms of blue, scarlet and gold.

They have never forgotten that Marine sharpshooters in the tops of the Bon Homme Richard helped give John Paul Jones victory against the Serapis in 1779 and today they drill and drill and drill in rifle marksmanship.

Scenes reminiscent of those of the last World War were enacted as the reserves entrained out of buses that brought contingents of their number from the Navy yard in Charlestown. Headed and mustered up from the East to the South Station.

CHEERED BY THRONGS

[illegible] the station, [illegible] were [illegible] sisters, [illegible] wives and friends. Some [illegible] many openly [illegible]

Mrs. Nora Connolly [illegible] Tom left, arrived with [illegible] to Dorothy just as the [illegible] out and broke into tears.

Three sons of one family [illegible] also in the outfit Sergt. [illegible], Corp. Joseph L. and Corp. [illegible] F. Murphy, all of [illegible] Dorchester.

Tears

Heartbroken over missing her son as he left for Quantico, Va., with others of the Marine Corps Reserves, Mrs. Nora Connolly is comforted by her daughter, Dorothy.

To Train

Composed of New England men, mostly from Greater Boston, Second Battalion of the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve steps smartly down Summer st. to South Station for a year's active duty at Quantico, Va.

HOW self-sufficient is the United States? Must we, like many of the European and Asiatic nations, seek raw materials in far away lands?

The experience of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company effectively answers these questions.

Actually, less than 2 per cent of Westinghouse's supplies come from abroad.

These, according to Mr. Andrew H. Phelps, general manager of purchases, include cobalt, antimony, Chile copper, Kanthal, mercury, nickel, tin, copal gum, white and amber mica, shellac, Japan paper, varnished treated silk cloth, asbestos twine, various kinds of hemp, tungsten and China wood oil.

But, assures Mr. Phelps, "supplies of all these necessary materials appear to be ample for several months to come. In fact, Westinghouse has on hand sufficient amounts of the various items to last from 10 to 36 months at the present rate of demand."

It is interesting to note that four of the important raw materials—nickel, mercury, copper and antimony—are Western Hemisphere products.

The others are imported from India, Sweden, Madagascar, China, Belgian Congo, British Malaya and Japan.

However, new sources of such vital commodities as tin, copal gum, cobalt and white mica are being developed in Canada, South America and the Philippines.

And the danger of a shortage of such substances as China wood oil is being guarded against by the use of acceptable substitutes like oiticia oil from Brazil.

Westinghouse's situation is typical of many of our leading industries.

The United States is not nearly so helpless and dependent on Europe and Asia as some people would have us believe.

DRAFTED YOUNG MEN are going to receive such thorough physical examinations before they go to camps that few, if any, will be rejected later for unfitness.

The new plan places increased responsibility on physicians who will examine draftees.

But in all probability the doctors' work will be made easier than that of their World War predecessors by the fact that today's young men are taller and stronger than their fathers and grandfathers.

This discovery was reported a year ago by Professor Robert J. Delhanty of Dartmouth College, who found that the modern freshman averages five feet, nine inches in height and 153 pounds in weight in contrast to the freshman of a quarter-century ago who stood five feet, six inches and tipped the scales at 133 pounds.

The added stature and strength are the rewards of improved dietary and living conditions obtainable in this country principally because we have managed to complete a generation without going to war.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE is called a "correspondence school" in an Associated Press dispatch.

This is because the 531 electors will meet in their various State capitals on December 16 and send their votes to Washington by registered mail.

Before 1934, the electors were accustomed to travel to the national capital to vote.

But this method was abandoned by Congress in the interest of economy.

The latest suggestion is that of Senator Lodge to abandon the Electoral College entirely.

He feels that the cause of democracy would be better served by having the President and Vice-President chosen directly by the people.

Were this the method of the present time, Mr. Roosevelt would be returned to office with 26,077,751 votes and Mr. Willkie would still lose with 21,691,499.

The Electoral College system makes Mr. Roosevelt's victory seem more impressive than it actually was.

Because of the rule giving the winner in each State all the State's votes, Mr. Roosevelt will receive 449 ballots in the Electoral College.

Mr. Willkie will get only 82.

SENATOR ASHURST, defeated for renomination in the Arizona primary election several weeks ago, will shortly retire from the United States Senate.

It is greatly to be hoped that his departure will not bring an end to the Federal legislation he has sponsored to stop kidnaping.

Mr. Ashurst's bill would prohibit the negotiation for or payment of ransom to kidnapers, and would thus remove the incentive for the majority of abductions, which are for the most part, cold-blooded, coolly calculated CRIMES FOR PROFIT.

Authorities agree that such a measure, relentlessly enforced, would have prevented most of the abductions for ransom that have occurred in the United States in recent years.

IN THE RAIN I saw a wedding party emerge from St. Thomas' Church on Fifth avenue. How was the weather the day you were married? A woman once told me of her wedding day: "It was beautiful in the morning. At three in the afternoon a terrific storm came up. Around four o'clock there was a rainbow followed by a beautiful sunset. Our wedding day has been symbolic of the years of our marriage."

SO HITLER named Florence as his favorite Italian city. At rare intervals Der Fuehrer gives indications of being almost human. However, I prefer to think of Florence as Elizabeth Barrett Browning's favorite Italian city. I have spent a few happy days and nights beside the Arno myself. A native of Florence never says "I am an Italian" but "I am a Florentine." The guides of Florence are brilliant, well educated men. I will always remember one saying a couple of years ago: "Florence has given to the world over 800 geniuses but none lately." I think Florence is the most interesting city in Europe from a historical standpoint. If I thought my mental capacity equal to it I would make a study of the history of Florence my hobby.

ONCE A SINGER, NOW SHE'S A CHANTEUSE
Hildegarde Sell, Beautiful Manhattan Entertainer

Ethel Barrymore, who was appearing in her first success, "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines' . . . Hildegarde Sell is professionally known as Hildegarde. Used to be a singer but now is a chanteuse. Difference is in the checks. At a place where a girl is a singer cocktails are usually 40 cents; where she is a chanteuse they are 60 cents. Hildegarde is from Milwaukee where her father ran a delicatessen store and was the first man in his city to retail three decker sandwiches to take out. Gilda Gray, erstwhile leading exponent of that dance known as the "shimmy," is also from Milwaukee.

How's your wife behaving, sir? Do you think some rules of conduct would help her. A man in Chicago, who has married four times, has just posted 100 suggestions for his very young wife. Some are: "Perform at least one act of consideration a day. Read an informative newspaper column daily. Learn one new thing a day regarding better home making. Remember the names of people introduced to you. Learn the meaning of at least three new words a day and how to pronounce them. When your husband returns from work meet him neatly attired and with a smile. Do not bore him with your petty house troubles."

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, THURSDAY—My husband and the boys stayed in Hyde Park yesterday with my mother-in-law. The dedication of the new postoffice in the village was the one official occurrence of the day. I left in the morning for New York City.

At 3 o'clock I took a plane for Washington, and was a little late, for we had to land at Bolling Field. At tea, two young men who are fired with enthusiasm over the promotion of real understanding between the South American countries and the United States, told me something of their hopes and plans for the future.

They are both teaching in American colleges, but would like to start a school in some South American country to prepare young South Americans to enter college in this country, and to encourage some of our youngsters to study in South American countries, where they can better prepare for future work with their neighbors.

A FEW FRIENDS came to dinner, and about midnight I began to realize that I had had little sleep in the past 24 hours. I almost missed getting up in time to meet the President this morning!

The people of the District of Columbia turned out in great numbers to welcome back the President and Vice-President-elect. When we reached the White House, all the members of the household with the ushers, the aides and the Marine Band were there to greet us. The front gates were open and the President had to go out under the front portico once before breakfast and once after it to wave his greeting to the people.

Then I went immediately to the opening session of the advisory committee of the NYA, returned to the White House for a press conference, and then ran over to the executive office to be with the President when he greeted all the members of the executive office staff. I finally found myself seated with Mrs. Helm to go over the accumulated details of social life, which must now be considered.

I shall quote just a brief excerpt from a letter I received this morning: "I have read and listened to both parties all that I could, and weighed it all with what knowledge and judgment I have . . . I am bound as an American to say that if the people's vote gives Wendell Willkie the office, then we owe him, while he is there, the loyalty, devotion, co-operation and encouragement that is due any man on whom we thrust so heavy and frightening a responsibility. I, for one, pray that I may never forget this, my responsibility to our government."

The people's vote has been given to President Roosevelt and the above describes fairly accurately what I hope will be the attitude of all citizens who really love and serve their country.

Broadway Medley

JESSEL ENDS ROW WITH HECHT

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Last year a great deal of publicity was given to a movie which was to be produced in N. Y. by Ben Hecht and George Jessel, in response to Mayor LaGuardia's plea that movies can be made in this city . . . That movie, "Angel Over Broadway," later was produced, directed and written by Ben Hecht alone, and is being released through Columbia Pictures. Jessel forthwith denounced Hecht as having deprived him of the fruits of his labor and Hecht made reply to the attack . . . Last week Jessel, touring with a company of Hollywood stars, was asked about Hecht and referred to him complimentarily. "But . . . the change?" George was asked . . . "Because I'm working," he explained. "Everybody's fine when I'm working."

DEMOCRACY: Garson Kanin, who directed "They Knew What They Wanted," is lamenting the fact that too late—much too late—did he think of a scene which he could have included. He thought of it last week, but that scene never can be used in a picture any more . . . It was to show a couple seated at a corner table in a cafe. The camera approaches them, showing him whispering affectionate phrases into her ear. As the camera nears, it shows their hands clasped under the table . . . they kiss tenderly. The camera comes closer, closer—until it shows, in his lapel, a Roosevelt button, and on her dress, a Willkie button.

LILLIAN GISH

STUNT: The authors of "Life With Father" always have dreamed of a special performance of that play in which Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney, of the N. Y. company, would play the first act; Lillian Gish and Percy Waram, of the Chicago company, would play the second act, and Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern, of the Boston company, would play the third act . . . It won't be complete, but at least part realization will come Saturday night, the first anniversary of he play's opening, when a special broadcast will be made in which all three couples will be heard.

WARNING: Joe Bryan III, who has been a circus follower ever since he wrote a magazine article about John Ringling North, went to New Orleans recently to see the Ringling circus. Bryan was permitted to meet the snake charmer, who asked Joe if he'd like to have one of the snakes placed around his neck. "Of course," he assured her, and bowed his head, while a large snake was carefully wound around him . . . He heard the snake charmer muttering some words which he thought were "charm words." "I didn't hear you," Bryan told her . . . She continued muttering, softly, quietly. "I still can't hear you," said Bryan, bending closer to catch the words which he finally was able to hear—words uttered quietly, not to disturb the snake, words which were: "Be very careful; he bites."

MYSTERY: Denes Agay and Emery Heim, the Hungarian composers who wrote the music for "Ecstacy," have been sending recordings of their new songs to friends and relatives in Budapest via the Clipper . . . Recently, they spent $46 to send two recordings of their latest song, to which Walter Hirsch wrote the lyrics. The records were returned, because the customs men in Hungary suspected that it might be a code requesting information—for otherwise why would grown men write a song called "How Much Wood Would a Woodchuck Chuck?"

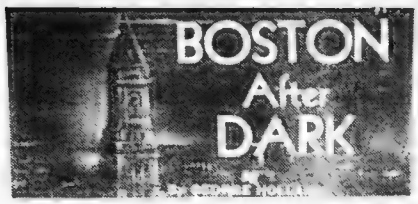
SILENCE: When the group of writers and actors went to Hyde Park for Mrs. Roosevelt's picnic, it was agreed that the writers were to assemble at one table afterwards and discuss the writing of a series of radio broadcasts for the campaign . . . After the picnic, Mrs. Roosevelt rapped the table for attention and announced: "Now will all those who are going to work please sit over here—and will all the others please keep quiet or else leave?" . . . The writers—Marc Connelly, Hervey Allen, Elmer Rice, Thornton Wilder and others—stepped to one side to work . . . The President, who had been talking to someone, continued his conversation . . . Mrs. Roosevelt then smiled and said: "Will the President of the United States either desist from conversing or leave?" . . . The President roared with laughter—and left.



HOMECOMING AMBASSADOR JOSEPH P KENNEDY'S denials that he has resigned his ambassadorship would seem to make it more valorous than wise to announce (unofficially of course) that he has accepted the job of bossing the country's defense effort . . . But here goes: He has

DICK ALDRICH, THE LANKY and handsome Mr Big of the Cape Playhouse, and recent bridegroom of lovely Gertrude Lawrence, declared at the Coconut Grove this early morning that Joe E. Brown was the nicest guy I ever worked with in the theater

WHILE THIS OFFSTAGE COMMENT was being noted by your reporter, an overflow [illegible] approximately 1 per cent people and 99 per cent [illegible] graph fiends was screeching its avowal of [illegible] sentiment . . . Mr. Brown simply never could have received a more cordial welcome

BUT THAT MOB was playing no favorites . . . The soft spoken Gene Autrey had been greeted in just as lusty a fashion a half hour earlier . . . Gene sang "South of the Border" and told a new joke . . . post-election joke—about Mrs Roosevelt . . . "In a big city like Boston," said Gene, in effect, "you probably have small chance to see my pictures

"MY PICTURES play the small towns of America . . . They even play towns where Eleanor Roosevelt has not visited . . . But with four more years to go there'll be a remedy for that." . . . Mr. Autrey did a very thoughtful thing a few minutes thereafter . . . Mickey Alpert had signalled for the "lights-out" that marked the end of "celebrity appearances" . . . But Gene had scanned the range and discovered Mrs. Joe E Brown sitting at a neighboring table.

HE GAVE A NIGHTCLUB variety of yip-ee-e and marched to the microphone . . . Then he introduced "his" neighbor and grand person, Mrs. Katie Brown ("Joe's wife.")

JOE HAD NOT YET arrived, and Gene didn't know that he was expected . . . The Browns are very nice indeed, and quite unaffected . . . So are the Autreys . . . Mrs. Brown hasn't been in Boston since she was featured in "Twinkle-Twinkle," a musical comedy of the early nineteen twenties . . . She was sad because many of the friends she knew then had passed on . . . Former Mayor Eddie Quinn of Cambridge was one she mentioned particularly . . . But Sen Kabatanick was present and accounted for.

MR. ALDRICH (WE SHOULD have mentioned) is a co-producer of Joe's current vehicle, "Elmer the Great" . . . Richard and Joe E. met last summer when Mr. Brown packed 'em in at Dennis in the same vehicle . . . The show is playing to "comfortable" business, but several appearances in the "strawhat theaters" has skimmed off a large slice of theater-goers . . . Most of the attendants at summer theaters, it should be remembered, are part of the Boston winter playhouse public.

BILL DUFFY, MANAGER and friend of Micky Walker, arrived in town two days ahead of the Mack testimonial at the Copley-Plaza . . . A bit of business will be coupled with the visit, because William of the West Side (of Manhattan) owns the motion picture rights to all championship fights staged under the aegis of Uncle Mike Jacobs . . . And the Louis-McCoy go will be a title bout . . . Bill got a rousing welcome by the Grove's audience.

JOINS "CRAZY WITH THE HEAT" CAST

Gracie Barrie to Sing Show's Leading Ditties

GRACIE BARRIE, the pretty young singer who met her husband, Dick Stabile, while Dick was playing a Boston engagement, has been signed to sing the leading ditties of "Crazy With the Heat" . . . This revue goes into rehearsal next week, and that would set the Boston premiere as mid-December.

COWBOY BILL BOYD IN DE MILLE FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Bill Boyd

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8—When my old friend, Cecil B. De Mille, wants something he usually gets it. He's [illegible] Cowboy Bill Boyd for one of his pictures a long [illegible] he's [illegible] him for a top role in "Reap the Wild Wind." Let me tell you how it came about: Harry Sherman holds Bill Boyd's contract and there is a clause forbidding him to [illegible] Hopalong Cassidys are too popular for Harry to turn over [illegible] western star to some other producer.

De Mille wanted Bill for roles in both his latest, "Union Pacific" and "Northwest Mounted Police," but [illegible] Bill [illegible] Wild Wind" to Sherman, asking [illegible] time, [illegible] in front of it: "This is a sea picture." So far Bill is the only actor set in Cecil Thelma Stratel last seller but there will be an all-star cast, as [illegible] C. B.'s habit.

LARAINE DAY

CHARLIE GRAPEWIN gets the coveted cousin role of Jeeter Lester in "Tobacco Road," a part that has been rumored for Walter Brennan, Henry Hull and a half dozen others. Well, good actors that they are I'm sure no one could be better than Mr. Grapewin. Remember how wonderful he was as grandpa in "Grapes of Wrath"—and Jeeter is not unlike grandpa. Easterners are particularly interested in Darryl Zanuck's plans for "Tobacco Road" for here is a play that apparently will run forever. It is one of Darryl's "big three" for 20th next year and already there is a second unit shooting [illegible] John Ford will direct.

WARNERS have loaned Ronald Reagan to M-G-M to make love to Laraine Day in "Bad Man," the Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore opus. Never knew a young man so anxious to get to work as Ronnie is because there's a location trip to New Mexico involved and he wants to get it over before the stork arrives in the nursery he and Jane Wyman have been readying. Speaking of Laraine, she's been handed a new contract at Metro. When I talked with L. B. Mayer he was convinced that the little Day girl was star material.

DON'T be too sure Harold Lloyd has given up acting to turn producer. "Three Girls and a Gob" is almost finished and those who worked with him say Harold had a hard time staying behind the camera and remembering he was just the boss. Several who have talked with him say that he would like to create a new characterization for himself—something different from the shy, bespectacled hero of his early successes. Those pictures ploughed [illegible] and now Harold thinks there is a [illegible] who [illegible] glorifying the average man.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AND PHILADELPHIA: Fred Brisson airmailed Roz Russell a diamond ring to Kansas City. If it is returned airmail he'll know what she means. If she comes home wearing it they're engaged. Why don't you speak for yourself, Fred? February is the date set for the wedding of Paul Kelly and pretty Claire Owen, M-G-M stock player.

SOMERSET MAUGHAM is so interested he may come to Hollywood for the premiere of Bette Davis in his favorite story, "The Letter"; it's Dean Jagger's birthday and he's made so many costume pictures Mrs. J. is giving him an 1861 costume party at home; Chester Morris and Lillian Barker will be married at Frank Morgan's home Nov. 30; Judy Garland's mother gave her that swank new portable dressing room on the set of "Ziegfeld Girl."

BINNIE BARNES has been ill—but she's back in the act now brighter than ever. Went to dinner at the famous "Rock Binder" Wednesday night—and we all agreed we'd never eaten such swell food. Reports from New York are that Bill Gargan may do the show "The Battle of the Angels" with Miriam Hopkins; Greer Garson was at Bill Jordan's Bar of Music with Phillip Winter—but her romance with Benny Thau is still on. It's just a few minutes before we catch the plane flying to Chicago so that's all for today.

Judge Flays WPA Man In Hit-Run

A WPA truck driver, who admitted he left the scene of an accident because he didn't want to "involve" other WPA workers on the truck with stolen junk, received a 10-minute tongue lashing today from Judge Daniel W. Casey in West Roxbury court.

Russell A. Proctor, 33, of Alther st., Roxbury, appealed a two-month House of Correction sentence for leaving the accident scene and a $50 fine for driving to endanger after Judge Casey referred to him as "one of those getting too much from the taxpayers."

Proctor, driver of a WPA truck which rammed a trolley car Oct. 18, causing injury to four passengers, surrendered last week because he was "worried."

"I didn't want to report the accident," he told Judge Casey, "because there were four other WPA fellows on the truck who had stolen junk from the Veterans' Hospital project on Center st., Roxbury."

Judge Casey said in part:

"I don't care if it was junk or jewels. You're one of those getting too much from the taxpayers. I think this is one of the most contemptible examples ever to come before me."

Tower of London Hit by Bomb

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Tower of London and the Church of St. Clement Danes in the Strand have been bombed in recent raids. Permission was given today to disclose these hits.

The ancient tower, scene of many sufferings in English history, has served as a fortress, a royal residence and a prison. Its tall spire by the Thames is one of London's landmarks.

Among famed figures who languished in it were James I of Scotland and Sir Walter Raleigh. It was their Henry VIII married Catherine of Aragon.

Much of the historic interior of St. Clement Dane's, regarded as one of the most beautiful churches designed by Sir Christopher Wren, has been destroyed, but the structure still looks proudly down on the Strand.

A bomb fell near the church, demolishing windows and making most of the interior "almost a shambles," as the rector, Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, put it.

Two of the most precious parts escaped damage, however. They were the stone altar, dating back to pre-Reformation days, and the pulpit, carved by Grinling Gibbons.

MRS. HELEN DOW

Heiress' Suit Dismissed

After conferring with counsel, Judge Arthur E. Beane, in Middlesex probate court today, dismissed without prejudice the separate support suit brought by Mrs. Helen Grant Dow, Brookline heiress, against Stephen R. Dow, radio executive.

The case was heard yesterday. Judge Beane today called counsel into his lobby while Mrs. Dow and her husband remained in the court room—but not together.

After a brief session the court announced dismissal of the petition which charged that her husband spent her large inheritance from her mother over a 14 year period.

All that is left now, the wife testified, is $150 of a $125,000 fortune, but two years' taxes are due on her home and a $10,00 mortgage is held against it.

In Tomorrow's
RECORD AND AMERICAN

Copyright, 1940, Publishers Service Co., Inc.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American GAME of CHECK is open to all persons living in the New England States. However, no employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, nor any newspaper dealers and carriers who deliver the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, nor any person acting as a proxy for another, nor any person who has won $500 or more in any contest, may win a prize.

2—Beginning Monday, October 14, 1940, a Check Sheet will be published each weekday in the Boston American and Boston Record. Each Check Sheet will contain three cartoon questions. Four and only four suggested answers will be printed under each cartoon question used in the daily Check Sheet. One and only one of these suggested answers is the correct answer to the question appearing above. The six Check Sheets published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen series. Answers to each week's series of cartoon questions should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, P. O. Box 2337, c o the Boston Record-American Game of Check. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their answers, achieve the 100 highest scores. A Check Sheet will not be judged as a unit—each and every question will be judged separately. Thus a contestant will get credit for each question correctly answered. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking questions, and if necessary, a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking questions. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solutions of such tie-breaking questions.

At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking questions without assistance in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of Check Sheets with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of Check Sheets and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest the Boston Record-American will present a special quiz booklet created by Harold Hart, author of the famous quiz volume "Invitation to Fun."

6—Any person by entering this contest understands it is a contest of individual effort and agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record-American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others, the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time before or after January 27th, the closing date, for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the establishment of time limitations, the judging of answers, the scoring of answers and interpretation of such instructions governing individual questions as may be announced by the officials of the contest. By entering this contest participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record-American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. Not more than one prize will be awarded to members of any one immediate family. The Boston Record-American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

Mail the coupon below for any previous Check Sheets you may need. They'll be sent you FREE of Charge—for a limited time only.

You Can Be Beautiful

Three Lipsticks on a Chain

By ARLINE GOULD

APPARENTLY the key to any situation these days . . . is the right lipstick color to accent whatever you wear, at any time of the day or evening! And since it's reached the point that men are so sensitive to "off" colors in lipstick, it's certainly a necessity to have a choice on hand.

One way of doing it . . . the smartest, cleverest way so far . . . is to have three lipsticks on a chain, so they'll always be within reach! They sold so fast in New York that the supply scheduled for Boston disappeared like snowflakes on a spring day . . . but now more have come in, and you'd do well to get yours before the limited number is gone.

Three lipsticks are hung on a real key chain, a gay gilt one . . . and on the chain is also an over-size metal dusk, which you may use for a mirror and for a monogram or address.

Don't underrate this new "color consciousness" of the masculine side of your acquaintanceship . . . men, most of them, have always had a keen color sense in their own tie-hankie-sock ensembling . . . and all the females they know have yammered so consistently about new nail polish and lipstick colors that it's no wonder they pay attention to them!

The three shades, which will cover the whole color scheme are also meant especially for bright outdoors, indoor daylight and night lights . . . good with anything, from a Scotch plaid to sables . . . and each shade smart and new.

If you'd like to learn all about this real key chain, with three lipsticks hung on it, phone Arline Gould, LIberty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Canned Peas Served in Milk Is Homey Dish

By MARTHA LEE

One of the nicest ways to serve canned peas is the way women used to fix them years ago, and that is with unthickened milk, salt, pepper and butter. In other words, just milk is added to the peas and seasoned to taste and served hot in sauce dishes so that they can be eaten with a spoon. By so doing, the flavor of the peas has the opportunity to mix and blend with the milk and seasonings.

In order to retain the food value in the liquid on the peas, and yet allow for plenty of milk, it is a good idea to pour the liquid off the peas into a wide based saucepan. Then evaporate the liquid to about half or less its original amount and add the peas, milk and seasonings.

Thickened creamed peas may be served directly on the service plate, [illegible] types of dishes and take various seasonings. For instance, some grated onion may be browned in the butter when making the sauce, some grated cheese may be added, or chipped beef, chopped eggs, salmon, or tuna may be added to make a heartier dish.

Buttering canned peas sounds simple, and it is. But many people do make such hard work of it and get such poor results that maybe a suggestion of a proven good way will help. Remember that canned peas are cooked and all they need is enough heat to make them the right temperature to eat.

Drain the liquid from the peas into a saucepan and boil it until there is about half or less its original amount of liquid. Add the peas and a liberal piece of butter, salt and pepper to suit the taste; heat the peas quickly and serve.

PEA CROQUETTES

2 tbsp. fat
4 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. sugar
Dash paprika
1 cup milk
1 cup peas, drained
1 egg
1 cup dried crumbs

Heat fat, add flour, salt, sugar, paprika and milk. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Add peas and mix well. Chill. Form into small rolls. Dip each roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg to which 1 tablespoon water has been added, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep hot fat (375 deg. F.) for 2 minutes or until a golden brown. Ddain on unglazed paper.

SOFT SHADES of tearose and violet form the color scheme for the gowns which Nancy Scott and her mother, Mrs. John Walmsley Scott of Marlborough street, are wearing at Nancy's debut tea at the Ritz-Carlton this afternoon . . .

Nancy, one of the season's most vivacious debutantes, wears her black hair in a distinctive banged coiffure . . . Accenting her dark locks is her debut gown of tearose velvet, made with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long, tight sleeves and a full hoop skirt . . . With this picturesque gown she is carrying a large, old fashioned bouquet of violets encircled with a lace ruffle . . .

Mrs. Scott's costume reverses the color scheme . . . her draped gown of violet crepe set off by a bouquet of tearose gladiolas to match Nancy's dress . . . They are receiving against a simple background of woodwardia ferns and bronze chrysanthemums which blend with the green and bronze decorations of the room in which they are welcoming their guests . . .

Barbara Paine Heads Pourers

EACH OF THE DEBUTANTE POURERS is receiving a nosegay of fresh violets . . . Barbara Ann Paine heads the group presiding at the festive tea table which is decorated with Queen Mary Roses . . . Assisting her are Virginia Grant, Virginia Ranney, Mary Remick, Jean Roberts Leslie Morgan, Alice Plummer, Barsha Powers, Priscilla Ireland, Ann Clarke, Fanny Whitney, Mary Favorite, Susan Bradford, Katherine Gayer and Virginia Bogart, who has come on from New York . . .

The usher staff, headed by Thomas James Scott, 3d, brother of the debutante, includes Robert Winsor, Jr., Douglas Johnson, William Force Dick, Daniel Riker, Grenville McVicker, David Lutkins, Fred Talbot, John Blake, Peter Dunham, Benjamin Blake, John Paine, William Haskell and James Mallor . . .

Following the tea dance Nancy is giving a dinner party at her parents' home for a group of out-of-town friends here for the occasion . . .

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

SO YOU'RE sick of all this terrible war news—this tiresome talk about taxes and unemployment. Seems as if there wasn't a pleasant thing left to talk about. Yet if you refuse to talk, people think you're dumb.

You're sick, too, of all these changes—these new ideas, all this criticism and challenge. Life has certain'y become one big headache.

——that how you feel these days? Probably. A lot of us do. But actually "this tiresome talk," these "changes and challenges" which you so resent are actual lifesavers for which you should be eternally grateful.

I RAN ACROSS the following passage, recently, It's from Gwethalyn Graham's thoughtful book, "Swiss Sonata"—Scribners, publishers. A fine and frank young teacher is speaking of school life and its perils.

"There's something sterile and static about a school," she says. "Something that creeps into you and changes you without your knowing it. Eventually the place comes to stand between you and the uncomfortable business of living and adapting yourself to others. In a school, you don't have to adapt yourself, because it's so easy to make others adapt themselves to you."

Chances are you'll agree with that—even enthusiastically, if you happen to remember some Ole Meanie of a teacher. But don't crow too quickly! It's quite as easy to become arrogant and ossified in a home or office as in a schoolroom.

ANY "DESIGN FOR LIVING" THAT LEAVES YOU COMPLACEMENT AND UNDISTURBED IS A DESIGN FOR DYING.

The first law of life is change.

IF WE WANT TO POSSESS LIFE OR ENJOY LIFE WE MUST KEEP IT IN CIRCULATION.

DON'T TRY TO GET AWAY FROM IT ALL! PRAY FOR . . . FIGHT FOR . . . A WIDER AND MORE DIFFICULT EXISTENCE RATHER THAN A NARROW, EASY ONE.

You wouldn't deliberately smother yourself to death with feathers would you? Then don't do it with an easy, insulated life. Seek change and challenge, force yourself to face it.

These Bible Names Puzzle

CLINTON, N. C., Nov. 8 (AP)—When a relief applicant gave names of her children as "Pidam Civ" and "Vereeley," welfare authorities inquired where she got the names. From the Bible she replied.

In the book she pointed out "Psalm CIV" and "Verily."

He's 35, Loves Girl of 19

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a bachelor of 35 years of age, teaching school, also very much in love with a young girl of only 19 years. I've been told she thinks a great deal of me, too. She is in her second year in college. Do you think I should ask her to marry me before she finishes school? And I'd like to know if you consider her a good companion for a man as old as I am?

PETE.

I think it would be a good plan to allow the girl to finish her education before you suggest marriage to her. It would depend largely on the girl, whether she would be a suitable companion for a man so much older, and whether they'd be happy. There are what is called "old young girls" and "young old men." But whatever she is, please let her finish her college course.

Marlene Dietrich Comes to Keith's Screen Tomorrow

Star Sings in 'Seven Sinners'

A distinguished corps of technical directors helped produce "Seven Sinners," Marlene Dietrich's new Universal film, which comes to the Keith Memorial screen tomorrow.

Tay Garnett, who directed the picture, doubled as the chief of the technical directors, since he is rated as one of the foremost authorities on the South Seas, locale of "Seven Sinners."

Garnett not only helped design the sets to provide a colorful and authentic background, but he also picked the atmosphere players, calling on the wealth of knowledge he has gained during numerous voyages to the romantic South Pacific.

The picture also has a navy background, and the technical director appointed by the Navy Department to see that all details pertaining to the service were correct was Capt. I. C. Dimon, who during his active career, served several "hitches" in the South Seas.

As for the glamour angle, Miss Dietrich, the screen's No. 1 Glamour Girl, needed no expert to give her pointers on this score. As Paul Lukas, the singer, who has been featured from an South Sea island after the two have met on the ship she goes on a night spot, Miss Dietrich is supposed to be unusually beautiful and she sings three new songs, "I've Been In Love Before," "I Fell Overboard" and "The Man's In the Navy."

Garfield Stars In Bad-Boy Role

By JOYCE DANA

John Garfield is a bad, bad boy again in "East of the River," one of those lower Manhattan mellers where the little boys (in the movies) grow up to be either gangsters or governors. At the Paramount and Fenway it has as companion picture "Always a Bride," with Rosemary Lane as the girl who collects husbands the lucky fellows.

East of the River" thanks to excellent direction by Alfred E. Green, and to an inspired performance by Marjorie Rambeau as Mama Lorenzo, is a couple of notches up on its predecessors of the Dead End school. Miss Rambeau's restaurant, where the Manhattan Latins get their pizza and ravioli, keeps her almost as busy as her boy Joie, who starts his wayward career by stealing fruit, shooting craps, hopping freights and finally running afoul of the law when he slugs a railroad detective. His pal, Bill Lundigan, is in on that scrape, and it's only Mama Lorenzo's heartfelt intercession that keeps the little hoodlum out of reform school.

Bill gets himself adopted by big hearted Mama. And it's a proud day for her when he graduates summa cum, of course) from engineering school. Garfield gets his decree from Sing Quentin. And his little sweetie is Brenda Marshall, a "moll" whose change of heart and habits under Mama's benign direction is probably the speediest regeneration on record.

Before long Garfield is on the lam, Bill and Brenda fall in love and wedding bells are about to ring, when the bad penny turns up again.

New Bills on Many Screens

Tremont's screen bill through Saturday includes "He Stayed For Breakfast," co-starring Loretta Young and Melvyn Douglas, and "The Great Waltz," with Fernand Gravet and Miliza Korjus.

Featured today and tomorrow on the Square Theater screen are "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," starring Basil Rathbone with Nigel Bruce and Ida Lupino, and "Almost a Gentleman."

Normandie's new screen bill, starting tomorrow, will feature "The Sea Hawk," with Errol Flynn, Flora Robson and Brenda Marshall, and "The Girl From Avenue A," with Jane Withers, Kent Taylor and Katherine Aldridge.

MET'S 'ARISE, MY LOVE' PROVES SURE-FIRE COMEDY

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1940

Colbert, Milland Share Honors

By PEGGY DOYLE

And just to keep proving that anything can happen in the movies the Met's new hit comedy, "Arise, My Love," has Claudette Colbert in the guise of a foreign correspondent. Then, to keep this screen soufflé light as a feather, they have her bite a wedge out of Ray Milland's good-looking nose.

When her newspaper editor, Walter Abel, attempts the same short cut to romance, he also gets the girl-bites-man reaction from Claudette. It's part of the technique the superlatively desirable young career-woman has developed to avert detours on her success climb.

"Arise, My Love" is a slick, sophisticated, sure-fire comedy, which should do excellent business at the Met and mark up a high score for the Paramount studio's attractive and impudently charming co-stars. The dialogue ripples along wittily with an ad-lib naturalness. Altogether, it is one of the season's most ingratiating events.

It starts off crazily enough. Milland, as an American free lance flier languishing in France's Spanish jail, is summoned to the warden's office to learn he has been spared execution on the plea of his beautiful wife. (Right out of the headlines, that one.) As he hasn't a wife, the orchidaceous Colbert has to kiss him into silence. En route to safety he learns his pseudo bride is a newspaper woman and has rescued him for a news beat in the 400 newspapers her syndicate serves.

It is all too businesslike for the interested Milland, who contrives a rendezvous at the famous Maxim's in Paris. Oh, he's meeting a gorgeous Roumanian, who's notoriously tardy, so until she arrives he'll be giving Claudette the facts of his early life for her series. This sequence, with Miss Colbert suggesting champagne with a spot of crème de menthe, a ride in a fiacre on old cobbled streets and silence for the count of 1000 before he kisses his Balkan beauty, is one of the best in this thoroughly diverting screen entertainment.

Gayety Shows 'Reefer Madness'

Still in great demand as entertainment with a warning, especially to the young, is "Reefer Madness," opening today on the Gayety Theater screen as second in a series of film dramas written around serious social problems. It shows vividly how the marihuana weed is forced upon young victims and how the "tea" or marihuana cigarette [illegible] ds a moral and physical blight.

What "Reefer Madness" shows is largely a big city problem, apparent enough to keen observers in the boy and girl gatherings in different public places but at its worst in private pads.

No punches are pulled in "Reefer Madness." It is a straight lesson in how the young [illegible] pulled down to the lower depths.

On the bill with it is "Road Demon," with Henry Arthur, Joan Valerie and Henry Armetta.

What Has Happened:

A FIFTH COLUMN blitzkrieg is under way in England led by a mysterious AJAX who officially and secretly is considered more menacing than Stuka bombers to the defense of the realm.

The confessed treason of MARA, ace English spy, followed by the sensational murder of CAPT. HUGH KENLEY, have put SIR JOHN SANDERSON, British Intelligence chief, in a desperate quandary.

Sir John's ward, beautiful BRINDA DUNCAN, had given a lift in her car to a limping stranger whom she mistook for an Englishman. But he was a Nazi parachutist and, when leaving Brinda's car, he shot Capt. Kenley.

Brinda meets LIEUT. RICHARD MALDEN, a former beau, when both are looking through photos in the Intelligence Office's "rogues gallery." He has just told her that his engagement to GLADYS, daughter of Lord and Lady Mountwyn, is to be announced that evening. Sir John and Brinda were to attend that party.

Now Continue:

FOR a moment Brinda entertained the thought of not going to the Mountwyns. She realized now why Lady Gladys, after long mutual avoidance, had asked her to this somewhat intimate party. It was not merely because Mountwyn and Sir John were friends. It was Her Ladyship's neat little way of reminding her that they had once been rivals. It seemed a petty triumph for the daughter of Lord Mountwyn, but quite in character.

"It will be grand having you there," observed Dick with magnificent tactlessness. "Quite like old times. You'll surely come."

Brinda hesitated. Then: "Oh, yes, I'll come. I can't let Sandy down."

Malden inspected one of the photographs from the espionage file. "Looks a little like the chap I saw lurking about, but not the same... No, I can't imagine anything more disastrous than a bomb in my laboratory right now. It would set back our experiments at least a year and by that time—who knows?—the war may be over."

"And the enemy begging for peace again?"

Malden frowned, his face suddenly sombre. "I'm not so sure about that. The Jerries are good technical men. We'll need some sort of an edge to beat them."

"And your Z-ray will give us that edge?"

Malden's jaw clenched. "Hope so. But there's no telling. It's a powerful weapon, but it's full of tricks. My job is making it lie down and behave. It's a shame. If I could only have got it financed sooner, we'd have the war won by now."

"But surely the government would have financed it!"

Dick looked at her curiously "The government," he repeated, his voice tinged with bitterness "Surely, you must be on to the fact that the British government has been asleep for 20 years." His expression was suddenly harsh and bleak. "If a man wants to do something for his country these days, he must be ready to pay for the job himself—or get someone else to."

They were interrupted by the same secretary who had relayed the previous message from Lord Mountwyn. This time his communcation was delivered sotto voce.

WE'LL MEET

"The devil!" exclaimed Jack. "Rotten luck! More trouble at the laboratory."

"Oh, I hope—"

"Nothing serious—that is, no more bombs. But I'll have to hop along, anyway. More than sorry. At any rate"—his eyes held hers briefly—"we'll meet tonight?"

"Yes."

"Good girl!" With a last flashing smile, he was gone.

Brinda turned back to the photographs and verbal descriptions of Britain's known secret enemies—the vast, stealthy army, without uniforms or banners—that, as chief of the Intelligence Service, it was Sir John's all-but-hopeless task to track down and arrest before they could strike at England's heart through murder, sabotage, or the stealing of vital documents—such as the recent theft from Mara of the list of Britain's own secret agents by the mysterious Ajax.

But it suddenly was hard for her to keep her attention on the motley procession of humanity that leered at her from the indexed cards. Another face intervened—the strong, tanned, saturnine face of Dick Malden, with the gray-green, deep, intent eyes, the thoughtful forehead, the humorously sensitive mouth, and the chin that would have been so forbidding except for that unexpected, boyish dimple.

Before her, too, there flashed the image of Lady Gladys, fair and willowy and blonde—the perfect type of English beauty. The perfect type, that is, if you overlooked the slightly selfish, sensual droop of the full red lips, contrasting strangely with cool, passionless eyes, and the austerely sculptured features. It was Hitler who, seeing her in a Munich cafe two years before, had pronounced her "the perfect Aryan beauty"—an accolade he had previously bestowed on other visiting English girls.

But Gladys was used to flattery—much of it from men of far wider romantic experience and discernment than the German Fuehrer. In fact, the world had given Lord Mountwyn's daughter little cause for complaint. Even at Miss Cartwright's school, which prided itself on impartiality, she had managed to be singled out for special favors.

It was there she and Brinda had contracted a brief friendship—initially warm, but cooling when they had clashed over Dick.

Brinda had not been resentful nor jealous of the other girl's special advantages of birth and fortune. But now, as she continued her forlorn-hope hunt through the grim catalogue of spies—a hunt for a face that, at best, she had barely glimpsed—she found herself inwardly raging at her former schoolmate.

Then the quick thought: "Nonsense! She's probably as good as Dick deserves!"

But still in the back of her consciousness, there persisted the image of the handsome young naval officer. And now and then, beside it, the chill, ashen loveliness of Gladys Mountwyn.

As it turned out, the mental picture was much like the reality that greeted her when, that night, she arrived with Sir John at the Mountwyn mansion outside London.

Not wholly alike, however, for while Dick and Gladys were among the first persons she saw as she entered the thronged drawing-room, they were scarcely side by side.

Instead Malden stood alone, thoughtfully contemplating the chattering crowd while Gladys, separated from him by a dozen feet of polished floor, seemed deeply interested in another guest—a rapier-like man, dark and posed and panther-like, with black, brilliant eyes that gazed above and past Gladys' golden head.

OLD FRIENDS

Lord Mountwyn turned from conversation with a group of guests.

"Good evening, Colonel . . . Miss Duncan . . . Now, where the deuce is that girl of mine? I'm especially glad to see you tonight, Colonel . . . something important." He beckoned to a liveried servant . . . "Ask Miss Gladys to step this way . . . You know all these people, Colonel, of course . . . Old friends . . . The rest, mostly Malden's chums."

As he spoke, Brinda's glance roved quickly over the room, summing up its occupants. The women were brilliantly costumed — as women are apt to be during the restricted gaieties of wartime. Gowns were daringly low, jewels were much in evidence. Among the men, there was a sprinkling of uniforms—though not as many as might have been expected in the second month of a major war. Doubtless because of the strange conviction, still prevalent in the upper circles of British society, that the whole unpleasant business would be disposed of shortly without trouble—probably by some sort of new, clever diplomatic pact.

Of the older guests, perhaps a half dozen were men who had been foremost in shaping British foreign policy during the preceding years. If they were suffering any misgivings as to how that policy had led to war, they concealed the fact well.

"Ah, there you are!" Mountwyn greeted his daughter. "Here is an old friend of yours, I believe."

"Brinda!" murmured Lady Gladys, extending a slim, languid hand. "How delightful!"

She introduced the rapier-like man — Prince Vaslav Yenidov. Then, with a proprietary and faintly triumphant air, she beckoned to Dick. Brinda wondered how Dick felt about that. But his expression gave no clue.

"I'll have to borrow Sanderson," interjected Lord Mountwyn. The older men moved away.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Gladys, almost at the same moment. "Here come the General and his wife. You'll forgive me?" She hastened toward a newly arrived couple. Then paused. "Come along, Vaslav," she called over a white shoulder with a voice that was politely imperative.

TRY FOR AN Art SCHOLARSHIP

Copy this girl and send us your drawing — perhaps you'll win a COMPLETE FEDERAL COURSE FREE! This contest is for amateurs, so if you like to draw do not hesitate to enter.

Prizes for Five Best Drawings — FIVE COMPLETE ART COURSES FREE, including drawing outfits. (Value of each course, $185.00.)

FREE! Each contestant whose drawing shows sufficient merit will receive a grading and advice as to whether he or she has, in our estimation, artistic talent worth developing.

Nowadays design and color play an important part in the sale of almost everything. Therefore the artist, who designs merchandise or illustrates advertising has become a real factor in modern industry. Machines can never displace him. Many Federal students, both men and girls who are now commercial designers or illustrators capable of earning up to $5000 yearly have been trained by the Federal Course. Here's a splendid opportunity to test your talent. Read the rules and send your drawing to the address below.

RULES

This contest open only to amateurs, 16 years old or more. Professional commercial artists and Federal students are not eligible.

1. Make drawing of girl 5½ inches high, on paper 6½ inches high. Draw only the girl, not the lettering.
2. Use only pencil or pen.
3. No drawings will be returned.
4. Print your name, address (town, county, state), age and occupation on back of drawing.
5. All drawings must be received by Nov. 30th, 1940. Prizes will be awarded for drawings best in proportion and neatness by Federal Schools Faculty.

50 64,000 See M-M Duel

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Biggest excitement since they unveiled Ole Bull's statue prevailed at this pigskin metropolis today as Minnesota and Michigan got ready for their title flavored game Saturday.

It was such a big day and drew such a crowd that the visiting folks were looking for soft spots on the hard sidewalks to catch a bit of sleep; well, it was almost that bad.

Hotels, like the 64,000 capacity Minnesota Stadium, have been sold out for several days. Adjacent St. Paul is taking up some of the slack.

SPEED DUEL

And where the fans and the large corps of visiting experts huddled, talk persisted about flying feet. Glib backers of mighty Michigan visioned plenty of flying Minnesota feet trying to overtake Tom Harmon, right now the game's rating halfback.

Minnesota's hoarse-voiced supporters had things to say about Michiganders endeavoring to keep up with the speedy George Franck. "Sonny" actually is faster than Harmon, but lacks by 30 pounds the punch that Wolverine Tommy possesses.

Coaches were even talking about this speed stuff talking about it to their men.

Bernie Bierman, Golden Gophers coach, apparently is going in for the business of matching speed with speed. He has been using swift Bill Daley, sophomore fullback, with the speed and heft of Harmon, in first string practice all week.

FRANCK THE GOBLIN

Minnesota then may sacrifice some of the sock possed by regular fullback, Bob Sweiger, two touchdown hero of the Northwestern game, to provide better insurance against Harmon running wild.

Coach Fritz Crisler has been building up the Franck bogeyman threat to impress his squad. His punch line was about Franck's 98-yard touchdown run against Washington, an outfit that has proved to be no pushover for such lustrous gallops.

This speed chatter has the folks so giddy they are ready to settle for nothing less than a touchdown hurricane.

"PECK" CLEVELAND PILOT, REPORT

ROGER PECKINPAUGH
As He Looked With Nats

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Cleveland News said today it had been informed by two usually reliable sources that Roger Peckinpaugh, once-fired manager of the Cleveland Indians, has been chosen to pilot the 1941 team.

"I hope that's right," Peckinpaugh commented. "I know I'm still in the running.

President Alva Bradley, who earlier said a manager would be announced next Tuesday, would not confirm the report.

The News quoted him as saying in New York that Peckinpaugh was "one of the leading candidates." He named Luke Sewell, present Indian coach, as another, but Sewell has belittled his chances.

"There's something in the wind that prevents my talking about that third man at this time," Bradley observed.

Oscar Vitt, the 1940 manager, was fired last month as the outgrowth of last summer's player rebellion.

Peckinpaugh managed the Indians five and a half seasons. He was ousted in mid-1933 in favor of Walter Johnson. Under his directions the redskins won 416 games and lost 402. Finishing third, fourth three times and seventh.

Toronto Club's Demise Seen Following Lazzeri's Release

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Release of Tony Lazzeri as manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs and failure of the club to renew its lease on Maple Leaf Stadium were taken today as indications it might not be in the International Baseball League next season.

Secretary-Treasurer Arthur Leman, in announcing Lazzeri's release, said it was due to "the uncertainty regarding Toronto continuing in the International League in 1941," and that for the same reason the club had not engaged another manager nor sought to renew its lease.

(In New York, League President Frank Shaugnessy said he had "heard nothing to make us think the Maple Leafs would not be in the league next year, and I am confident Torono will find its way clear to continue.")

Minnesotan Picks Michigan

STILLWATER, Minn., Nov. 8 (AP)—A daring Minnesota sports columnist who isn't picking the Gophers to triumph over Michigan Saturday even if the golden gridders are to be his neighbors tonight.

"Mush," conductor of the Night Hawks column in the Prison Mirror, State penitentiary weekly, predicts a 23 to 6 final tally in favor of the Wolverines.

Says "Mush," "Tom Harmon will run our Minnesota lads groggy while his teammates shove the entire Gopher squad clear out of Memorial Stadium!"

"Mush," however, laments in the next sentence that he picked Northwestern to lick the Gophers, 20 to 7. Minnesota won, 13 to 12.

To get away from the pre-game hubbub the Gophers are spending tonight at Bayport, in the shadows of the penal institution, where "Mush" concocts his weighty sports conclusions.

B. U. and Harvard Offer Necks to Axe

B. C.-B. U.—A clinical assault by B. C.'s muscle-wealthy Goliaths on its neighboring, apple-cheeked innocent and a resulting case for the coroner. Hexed by hurts which range from bunions to bleeding gums, B. U. is limping gamely to war against the finest physical-and-IQ unit east of Lake Cayuga. Yet bowl-bound B. C. (Shhhhh!) won't take chances on harvesting any bumps, busts and lacerations, preferring a few quick touchdown thrusts and then packing away its bruise-mottled regulars, like Alex Lukachik (hip), Henry Toczylowski (grippe) and Al Fiorentino (pip) in cotton wool to wait for Georgetown. The rest will be practice maneuvers. Demonstrations by B. C., lessons by B. U.

AUSTEN LAKE

Penn - Harvard — "Intelligent opinion" is that Harvard may be lucky to taste the saccharine sweets of victory again this autumn. Yet precedent proves that Harvard, under the graduated system of detail-teaching by Dick Harlow, has usually had a "sleeper" up its sleeve in late season. But not against Penn's eleven alumni nurtured, A. A. chaperoned marvels of he-man coordination! Harvard has no "breakaway" runner to match Penn's Francis Xavier Reagan, no passer to harry Penn like Princeton's Dave Allerdice did. And still this will be no pulverizing like Penn gave Yale (50-6). Just a vigorous touchdown massage, say about 21 to Ouch!

Purist vs. Modernist

MISSISSIPPI-HOLY CROSS—A slightly pastel shade of the usually vivid Purple against the Red (for welts) and Blue (for bruises) of Ole Miss with its pass-pitching combination of Junie Hovious and Merle Mapes. Chick Gladding, all-national candidate for end, will do the catching (?). A Mississippi team rated as the purist replica of Rockne-coached Notre Dame under Harry Mehre against H. C.'s modernistic version of the same thing under Joe Sheeketski, who has shuffled his backs in an effort to find the exploding point of his hidden gun-powder. A solid Southern vote for Old Miss, a staunch Willkie effort by Holy Cross.

Dartmouth-Princeton—The Tiger, rated as cream of the Big-Three crock before this season, has been discounted by its feeble footwork against Harvard. Formerly a bone-crushing, power team which made headway through the tackles, Princeton has turned to the air. Dartmouth, whose forward passing has been its favorite scoring arm, is concentrating on the ground. Princeton's more varied offense should win against Dartmouth's Bob O'Brien bolstered line by a touchdown or two.

MINNESOTA-MICHIGAN—The famous annual battle over a 10-cent brown drinking jug, with the Midwest's unbeaten, untied monsters colliding for National recognition. Neither team has been held to less than two touchdowns in any game this season, though old Minnie's 14-13 squeak over Northwestern's behemoths may have whittled its energies down and softened it for one or more of Tom Harmon's wag-tail runs. Counter argument here is over Tommy's trail-breaker, Evashevski's chipped shoulder and whether Tom can wriggle his footloose way without Evie's blocking. A metaphysical guess for Minnesota.

Notre Dame-Navy—It's prestige having taken an abrupt nose dive after being held 7-0 by an inferior (for Army) team, the nation's foremost football opportunist has gone back to primary fundamentals for Navy, rated a 3-1 superior to his brother-service team. Like Notre Dame, whose players come not by squads, but by regiments, Navy is three deep in reserves. Here is one of the prospectively heart-flutter games of the East with N. D. holding a whisker edge and "breaks" determining the result.

HUB HIGH SCHOOLS ENTER RIFLE TEAMS IN HEARST TOURNEY

Boston high school students are planning a mass assault on the William Randolph Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy Competition which is to be held throughout New England during the winter months under the auspices of the Boston American-Record.

Today's mail brought in several high school rifle team entries.

Among them were the Blue and Blue and Purple and White teams of the English high school, Evening Central and a third from the High School of Commerce Evening Centre, Louis Pasteur avenue, Roxbury.

COACHED BY MAJ. LANNON

All three of these teams use the rifle range at English high school and are coached by Maj. Michael J. Lannon, armorer of the Boston school system. Maj. Lannon had previously filed the entry of the Sargent College girls team of which he is likewise coach.

Major Lannon is a former regular Army officer who is intent on making accurate marksmen of as many youngsters as possible. He believes thoroughly in the principles of defense measures and he believes, too, that his range pupils are qualified to more than ho'd their own with the best shooters to be found in the Hearst Junior ranks.

EVERYBODY WELCOME

Another Junior team entry today received is that of the B. L. S. Rifle Club, filed by James Sullivan of 51 Harbor View st., Dorchester.

Entries are still open and every New England team is welcome. There is no entry fee and the only qualification is that each member of every team must be a citizen of the United States and be willing to declare his complete loyalty to the flag of the United States and its duly qualified officers.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Chilian army won low-score international jumping competition at National Horse Show. Pittsburgh dropped football relations with Duquesne.

THREE YEARS AGO—Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, voted National League's most valuable player for 1937 by Baseball Writers' Association.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Notre Dame, playing without Andy Pilney, lost to Northwestern, 14-7, after six straight victories, leaving only 10 teams unbeaten and untied.

All-America Trials Start Monday

Three of the Bay State's promising young glove-tossers, Tommy Sullivan of South Boston, Sam DiVincenzo of Haverhill and Steve Kronis, already have entered the first New England All-America tournament, which will be staged Monday night at the Arena by the Irish-American A. A.

All three youngsters boast Golden Gloves titles, Sullivan in the light heavyweight division, Kronis in the featherweight and Di Vicenzo in the lightweight. In addition, Sullivan and Kronis also hold state championships in their respective divisions.

FINALS ON DEC. 9

Another prominent entry is Charlie Samara of Woburn, who will try for honors in the 147-pound class.

Like last year, the show will feature bouts in all eight championship classes, also bouts in four classes for novices—112, 126, 147 and 175 pounds. Toni Kanaly is receiving entries at the Arena.

Winners Monday, as well as the winners in the following three N. E. All-America trials will qualify for the grand finals which will be held at the Garden on Dec. 9.

NATION'S BEST COME HERE

Those eight boxers who are fortunate enough to win New England All-America diadems will participate in the Eastern All-America championships at the Garden on Dec. 18. Boxers from New York city, Albany, Buffalo and Baltimore will also compete for Eastern All-America laurels.

The Garden, on Jan. 27, also will be the scene of the Grand National All-America finals. In this classic, the Eastern champions will meet the titleholders from the Far West, Mid-West and South.

Thus, it can be seen, the qualifying rounds which start at the Arena next Monday hold especial significance to the young glove-tossers from this section.

All-America Entry Blank

The following classes will be contested in tryouts in the American-Record All-America boxing shows at Arena, Nov. 11, Nov. 18, Nov. 25, Dec. 2.

112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 and 175 pounds and heavyweight

Bruins Face Prepared Pics

Don't be surprised if the Olympics beat their professional brethren, the Bruins, when the two clubs clash Sunday afternoon at the Arena.

The Pics this fall have had 20 consecutive days of practice and boast the strongest team in their history.

Two years ago, the Pics met the Bruins and lost, 7-2, when they fell apart in the last period through lack of condition. There will be no such excuse this time.

The Pics are rarin' to go. Even Junie Stubbs, veteran from Newton, who suffered a severe facial laceration recently, expects to play Sunday. If so, the Pics will have three strong lines ready to throw at the pros, which means they will have a sustained drive which they lacked two years back.

The Pics open their league season next Wednesday at Baltimore, and they will play their first league game at home one week from tonight when they face the Washington Eagles at the Garden.

Breaks, MacKinney's Kicking Harvard's Hopes Against Penn

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8—Harvard's hopeful band of 31 football players, plus the college band, arrived at Philly early this morning and went directly to their quarters at the Manufacturer's Club, after which they worked out at Franklin Field.

Penn's football team rules the city around these parts. The press in the Quaker capital are treating the Harvard game rather lightly but point out that the Crimson coach has the continual knack of turning out a fine team when it is least expected.

Dick Harlow has announced his starting team and all the positions are settled with the possible exception of bucking back. For some reason the local fans seem to think that the Cantabs are trying to pull a fast one by saying that Gardella will be in the Harvard lineup. Gardella is really on the blink with a very bad charley horse, and will see no action.

MacKINNEY LONE STAR

Loren MacKinney has gathered in most of the press headlines in the Philly papers. But the writers are always careful to point out that Penn has two punters named Regan and Wexler who can boot the ball in any league and are ready for challenges. Joe Koufman will be on the other Harvard end, Gardiner and Elser at tackle, Peabody and Pfister at guard, Ayres at center, and Heiden, Lee, Speyer and Waldstein in the backfield.

Waldstein is not a definite choice to fill in for the ailing leader of the Johnnies.

Dick Harlow said, "It all depends on several things as to who will start at bucking back. It depends on the wind, and many other things. I shall hold my decision until game time."

Mort Waldstein, 187 pound crushing bucker from Brookline, has had the call in the spinning role all week, but his rival, Bill Brown, of way down south, has far more experience and has rated as the starter in previous games this fall when Gardella was being used at tailback.

DEPENDS ON BREAKS

Dick Harlow says that he has a fine defensive team, but that the Crimson are far off color when it comes to a scoring punch. If two and two add up to four it looks as though Harlow would try to take advantage of MacKinney's kicking ability and hopes that by breaks his team might upset.

The doughty Quakes were riding on the crest of the wave until they were calmed down by the Michigan tornado a few weeks ago. Last week the Navy team pushed and shoved the Red and Blue all over the field and would have won the game except for a few costly fumbles.

If Harvard gets the breaks and can stand off Regan, Harvard might win, but if you're in a betting mood . . . Penn, should win by at least a three touchdown margin.

PENN STATE CONFIDENT

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8 (INS)—Coach Bob Higgins was confident today his undefeated Nittany Lions will take Syracuse's measure.

B. C. Frosh Favored Over H. C.

Armistice afternoon Boston College freshman eleven will take time out from its duties as scrimmage fodder for the varsity to contest its annual game with traditional rival, Holy Cross, at Alumni Field. Originally carded for Fitton Field, the frosh clash was moved to Newton to feature Freshman Day at Boston College.

The Eaglets have yet to taste defeat, having trimmed Marianapolis, Dartmouth '44 and Boston University '44. In three games they have scored 31 points as against 11 for the combined opposition.

Though the game will probably be a nip and tuck contest throughout, on the basis of what the Armistice Day rivals did against the Dartmouth yearlings, the Boston College eleven will have to be made favorite. Dartmouth, which lost, 9-2, to the Eaglets, drubbed the Crusaders Cubs, 19-6.

Guards Lead B.C. Against B.U.

Tony Tassinari, substitute guard, whom Head Coach Frank Leahy calls "one of the hardest workers on the squad," and Joe Zabilski, first string left guard, whom the Eagle head coach considers one of the finest guards he has ever handled, will co-captain Boston College against Boston University at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon.

The choice, though somewhat of a surprise, is a decided hit with the Eagle squad. Both Tassinari and Zabilski are seniors. The honor to Zabilski is particularly significant since Joe was co-captain with Lou Montgomery for the Idaho game, only three weeks ago.

Though Tassinari has been a member of Eagle grid squads for four years he has never won a letter. Though unable to crash through to a varsity letter in two years of competition the quiet spoken, well-liked Salem boy has always given his best. That's the reason for the honors he'll enjoy tomorrow afternoon.

Zabilski, Providence strongboy, who came to Boston College as a fullback and championship hammer thrower but ended up one of the best guards in the East when Leahy and Co. took over at the Heights, is the first Eagle to twice co-captain the Bostons this year.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 7

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams except that for which you predict a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Fractions of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores on the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Monday, nine days after the game. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1897, Boston, Mass.

In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

THEY WERE PALS—Ring Lardner, Nick Flatley and Tiny Maxwell. You would always find them together in the press box of a major sports event, or at some friendly night-spot after they had written their stories for their newspapers.

Lardner and Flatley were at different times sporting editor of this newspaper, and I worked with them. Ring and Nick specialized in baseball, while at the time I devoted most of my energies to writing boxing, and occasionally making a road trip with a ball club.

Maxwell was associated with a Philadelphia newspaper, and was known as much for his standing as a football referee as he was as a sports writer.

While it has been some years since this famous trio was called out by the Great Umpire, their writings and rulings have been running through my life this week.

As I laughed with Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great" at the Plymouth Theater this week, I thought as much of Ring Lardner who wrote the play as I did of the famous comedian who acts and eats the part of Elmer so well.

I could visualize Lardner sitting at his typewriter in the sports department of the American's former home on Summer st., and with a cigarette held lightly between his lips batting out his column without the slightest hesitation in thought.

It was Lardner's "You Know Me, Al" series in the Saturday Evening Post that started him on the road to fame. It was years later that he wrote "Elmer the Great" and saw it produced by his friend, George M. Cohan.

In those days, George Holland of "Boston After Dark" fame, was doing theatrical publicity in New York. I can remember George telling me on numerous occasions that Lardner, Cohan and a group of friends were planning to buy the Red Sox. The deal was all but completed two or three times.

I think Lardner, if alive, would get great enjoyment out of watching Joe E. Brown act the part of Elmer. Brown is a natural in this part as a result of his knowledge of baseball and his association with rookie players. I am still wondering where Brown put all the food he consumed during the play. He not only ate the food, but he appeared to like it even when it was coming out of his ears.

Tom Thorp Tells of Maxwell

WHEN TOM THORP is laughing while talking to somebody at Rockingham Park it is usually because he is telling a story about Tiny Maxwell.

"I was officiating with Maxwell in a football game between two Pennsylvania elevens," said Thorp. "We had been told there was bad blood on each side, and that we would have a pretty hard time of it.

"'I'll call penalties on the first three plays and slow them down,' said Tiny.

"'All right,' I agreed.

"On the first play, Tiny blew his whistle, and penalized the team carrying the ball 15 yards for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Maxwell's whistle sounded again. This time he penalized the other eleven 15 yards.

"'The captain of the second team to be penalized rushed at Tiny and was in a rage.

"'Who is carrying the ball?' he demanded, 'the players or the officials?'

"'Just a minute, please,' pleaded Maxwell, 'there is another penalty coming on the next play.'"

Nick Flatley's Tribute to Eddie Mack

IN GOING through the files looking for some old football data, I saw a column written by Nick Flatley about Sergeant Eddie Mack. The column is particularly appropriate with the testimonial dinner to Mack scheduled for the Copley Plaza for tomorrow night. I clipped the column as I felt you would like to read it as much as I did. Here it is:

EDDIE MACK, through his Argonne Club, turns over something like $20,000 to the family of Mike Burke, late police inspector. This proves that, way down beneath, the boxing crowd is 100 per cent right.

The Burke benefit was the most successful show ever staged in these parts. The receipts ran away from anything of the kind that has been recorded. That $20,000 tells a greater story than we could write with a million words.

That benefit was a wonderful affair. And the credit, apart from the great lure of Mike's memory, belongs to Eddie Mack. The Top Sergeant of the Argonne Club cut loose with everything to make the show a success.

He turned over his office staff and his matchmaking ability. He signed up every fighter on the card. He passed up a couple of chances to make a few thousands for himself. Not a boxer on the long list was paid a penny. Eddie didn't put in a bill for anything.

This stunt of his hoisted him right up with the leading philanthropists. Any time the Top Sergeant wants anything, we're here to help him get it. Lots of the boys orate about their big-heartedness, but when the pinch comes, they have this and that to charge up.

Eddie and his crowd didn't charge a cent. They made the fighters fight for fun, which is a glorious accomplishment all by itself. The Burke benefit can be held up as something for all the charitable and philanthropic crowds to shoot at.

WHAT A BENEFIT E. MACK WILL DESERVE IF HIS SPAN OF LIFE HAPPENS TO BE CUT SHORT ANY ONE OF THESE DAYS.

* * *

Eddie, like everybody else regular, is one of the ardent workers for the Sunday sports petition. Looks like that one couldn't lose.

ILLINOIS UPHOLDS BAN ON RACE NEWS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8 (AP)—Atty.-Gen. John E. Cassidy today ruled that the Illinois Racing commission has authority to clamp a censorship on race track news if "the dissemination of such tends to encourage a violation of the gambling laws of the State."

The racing commission secretary, George H. Foster, had asked Cassidy's opinion on a proposed regulation to bar transmission of race news—including radio and telegraphic descriptions of running of the race, the result and betting odds—until 30 minutes after the completion of the race.

The attorney-general replied that while the commission can ban immediate race news is not covered specifically by the statute, the commission may prevent dissemination of race news "to the extent that the dissemination of such news tends to economic violation of the gambling laws of the state."

"Care, however, should be exercised in the adoption of any such rule, not to preclude in its prohibition the dissemination of news which would most further a violation of the law."

DAVE WILSON

DAVE WILSON HITS FIVE STRAIGHT

Green Race Special fans and followers of Dave Wilson's graded handicaps were well repaid for their interest when the premier handicapper hereabouts handed them five straight winners out of the eight-race card yesterday at Rockingham Park.

Wilson just missed hitting the daily double when his top choice, Grand Lama, was just nosed out by Firing Pin in the opening race. His other two top choices, which missed were Amercup and Sicklebill, which ran third in the seventh and eighth races, respectively.

A flat $2 wager on each of Dave's top choices would have resulted in a net profit of $23.90, while a $2 parlay would have brought the bankroll up over a thousand.

His winners and prices were:
Epical 2d race, $3.20.
Johnny Q., 3d race, $10.60.
Jackinthebox, 4th race, $13.20.
Count Dean, 5th race, $4.80.
Adoress, 6th race, $13.00.

Wilson's form appears in the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American and in the Sunday Advertiser.

Phil Wrigley Wants To Quit as Cubs Head

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Philip K. Wrigley, confessing he started to learn the baseball business too late, wants someone to take his job as president of the Chicago Cubs.

The club owner disclosed yesterday that he had offered the presidency to Charles (Boots) Weber and that Weber had declined.

Weber, business manager of the Cubs, announced recently he was resigning to retire from baseball.

Wrigley said he would relinquish the presidency immediately if Weber would take the job.

"I've never been a baseball man primarily and I think it's a little late in life for me to expect to master the business," Wrigley said.

Owner Wrigley assumed responsibility for the Cubs' poor showing last season and said that he wasn't blaming Manager Leo (Gabby) Hartnett.

"I've come to the conclusion that I'm the fly in the ointment to start with," Wrigley remarked. "I'm not a baseball man. Maybe I've been thinking the wrong way in the things I've tried to do."

Although Wrigley previously had announced that Manager Hartnett was in line for another contract, the club owner said yesterday that the manager's status hinged on developments in the front office.

"I don't propose to turn over to the new organization, whatever it might be, old tools," Wrigley said. "It would be up to the new men to map their own course and naturally, the matter of retaining Leo would be in their hands."

Stagehand Through As Racer Says Sande

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 8 (AP)—Making his first appearance at the Pimlico meeting, Earl Sande disclosed that no further effort will be made to train Maxwell Howard's Stagehand.

Eagles Prepared To 'Shoot Works' Against Terriers

By BILL GRIMES

With another "breather" coming up tomorrow, Coach Frank Leahy is in a tough spot at the heights.

The Boston College Eagles are rated among the first ten elevens in the entire country. Unquestionably, they are fully entitled to the honors which are being bestowed upon them.

But, they cannot keep at the peak of their form unless they meet some worthwhile competition. Since the Temple game, the Eagles have walked through Idaho, St. Anselm's and Manhattan. And, tomorrow they get B. U.

In all probability, the Eagles have derived more benefits from practise scrimmages than they have acquired in regular games.

TEAM NEEDS PRESSURE

Frank Leahy is the type of coach who dislikes showing up any inferior eleven. But, with the undefeated powerful Georgetown team coming here one week from tomorrow, Coach Leahy must shoot the works against the Terriers.

"I hope that the public will realize my position in the event that Boston College gives the Terriers a sound trouncing. I mean if we run up a large score on Pat's boys," declared Leahy.

"We haven't been pressed to any extent since the Temple game. That's bad for any club. Against weak opponents, strong clubs have a tendency to ease up. Then, when they meet a worthy foe, they simply haven't got the right amount of drive.

"I have no alternative, with the Georgetown game a week away, I've got to open up and, as they say, "Shoot the works." Charlie O'Rourke hasn't passed under pressure for a month. He'll pass plenty tomorrow.

"Because of the calibre of our opponents, I've been obliged to hold more scrimmages this season than I usually do. My first elven wasn't getting enough contact work.

LAUDS B. C. SQUAD

"And, I want to say right here that I'm very fortunate to have such a high grade type of boy as is on this present B. C. squad. Otherwise, I'd have more worries than I'm now carrying. They knew that they'd beat Idaho, St. Anselm's and Manhattan. And, I don't doubt but that they are far more confident over the outcome of tomorrow's game than I am. However, not a mother's son on the squad has eased up in a single practise session this fall. And, the same was true a year ago. They've given me their best on every occasion. A few loafers would have added many gray hairs to my head.

"I'm prepared for trouble tomorrow. I attened that B. U. rally and I've never seen a better display of spirit at any college. Judging from Capt. Jim McDonald's talk, the players feel that they will give the Eagles a real tough battle from start to finish. And, regardless of what you experts have written about the great Boston College eleven, a team with such spirit is a worthy foe, against the best that the game can produce.

DON'T BLAME PLAYERS

"I know Pat Hanley will understand my tactics in tomorrow's game. Pat has been around football a long time and realizes that Boston College must cut loose or it's liable to be far below par when it takes on the Hoyas. It's the opinion of the public that concerns me. I hope that it sees my position, but if it doesn't see eye to eye with me, I trust it will not blame the players. I'm the one to censure.

"During our practise scrimmages this week, I haven't been satisfied with the results. A week ago last Tuesday, the Eagles were at the peak of form. I've never seen them hit as hard even in a game. But, they haven't been very impressive to me since that day.

"I believe that I will start Ted Williams at left half. He blows hot and cold but if he's having one of his hot days, he'll show the fans something to rave about. In a scrimmage against the A team on Monday, Williams broke loose time and again and looked great. If he can key himself up to the right pitch, Williams will deliver against the best opposition."

"What about Mike Holovak, Coach?"

"Well, Mike is coming along very well. He's a "natural" in many things but there are other departments which need brushing up. He's beginning to cut now and once he has mastered that art, he's bound to be a far more consistent ground gainer. I saw him cut three times on one run recently, which is a very pleasant sight for me to witness.

"From what I've said I hope you haven't concluded that the Eagles haven't anything serious on their hands tomorrow. True, if we are going at our best, we should win.

"But, what I'm worrying about is, will we be going at our best?"

MINNESOTA, STANFORD AP CHOICES

Here is the Associated Press football forecast for tomorrow's games.

Minnesota-Michigan: Might decide the Wesern Conference title in this one, particularly if Minnesota wins. No unbeaten team in the land has waded through quite such a schedule as the Gophers. They must hold Tommy Harmon within reasonable bounds to get by undefeated Michigan, which in turn will have to keep sharp watch on Bruce Smith and George Franck. By the toss of a coin, Minnesota.

Southern Methodist-Texas A. and M.: The Mustangs are plenty tough and might break Texas A. and M.'s long string but this corner prefers to string along with the Aggies.

Stanford-Washington: This thing gets worse the longer it goes. Stanford's unbeaten, and Washington would be too, except for its opening game with powerful Minnesota. Maybe thisis where the Indians get off but we'll tag along with Stanford to the bitter end.

Cornell-Yale: Should be batting practice for the Big Red. Cornell.

Fordham-Purdue: The Boilermakers are unlucky and Mike Byelene may not be in shape for much service, influencing this vote for Fordham.

Columbia-Wisconsin: What do you do in a case like this? Can't tell what Wisconsin is going to do next. In a deep fog, Wisconsin.

Navy-Notre Dame: Navy's strong but the Tars can't seem to make their power pay off. Taking Notre Dame on the theory the Irish can't be as bad as they looked last week.

Alabama-Tulane: It's just as risky now to pick against Tulane as it was to pick the Green Wave earlier in the season. This looks like a real tussle. Out of the hat, Alabama.

Penn-Harvard: The Crimson seems to be on the upgrade but Penn must be the choice.

Princeton-Dartmouth: Taking Princeton despite the Tigers' lack of a running attack.

Army-Brown: Very tough to figure. The Cadets hardly can be counted on to hit the same peak they did for Notre Dame. A doubtful vote for Army.

Holy Cross-Mississippi: Doesn't seem to be much hope for Holy Cross here, Mississippi.

Northwestern-Illinois: Looks safe for Northwestern.

Nebraska-Iowa: Nebraska is really tough and gets this vote.

Detroit-Texas Christian: Each lost to Tulsa by a touchdown which is no help to this guesser. By the coin, Detroit.

Indiana-Michagan State: An extremely shaky vote for Michigan State.

Auburn-Clemson: And one of the same kind for Auburn.

Florida-Georgia: The Bulldogs are moing along. Georgia.

Kentucky-Georgia Tech: Tech seems to have collapsed. Kentucky.

Arkansas-Rice: Another one of the same ilk. Arkansas.

Southern California-California: Plenty close but Southern California should be thoroughly reseted and gets the nod here.

Oregon-U. C. L. A.: After losing six straight by a touchdown or less, U. C. A. L., finally should win one.

Maryland-Georgetown: Should be no risk for unbeaten Georgetown.

Pitt-Carnegie: After three weeks' rest, Pitt should take this one.

Rutgers-Lafayette: Lafayette's undefeated record endangered. Still Lafayette.

Syracuse-Penn State: The Nittany Lions' great forward wall should be decisive. Penn State.

Also: Boston College over Boston University; Tennesse over Southwestern (Tennessee); Williams over Wesleyan.

AUSTEN LAKE SAYS:

ment here is to see whether Cornell, as the nation's super-ultra eleven, can mangle Yale by a larger margin than did Penn, its dearest rival (50-6). Cornell, in the perfect pulsating pink of health, goes up against a feeble Yale team further enfeebled by injuries to John MaGee, Bill Bell, Bud Talbot and Hank Ellis. A give-and-take proposition with Cornell, on that the scriptural theory that it is better to give than to receive, playing philanthropist.

WILLIAMS-WESLEYAN—Deflated by a 27-7 beating from the Coast Guard, Wesleyan goes against the mighty-midget of New England's potted Ivy league. Wesleyan, ranked as the power and glory of the Little Three last September, confounded its followers by being flattened by Bowdoin and Connecticut Aggies. Still, the season has gone by contraries, and this may be another aspirin for the experts to swallow. A surmise for Wesleyan.

BROWN-ARMY—The kay-dets, whee-ed up against Notre Dame last Saturday, may pay the price in nervous slump against Brown. Columbia found that out against Syracuse the week after beating Georgia. Navy found it out the next Saturday after beating Yale. That is the natural law of compensation! You put back what you borrow! So Army, having drawn on its nervous capital against N. D. is risking a collapse tomorrow. And even if there isn't any flop, Brown, with its strongest team since the Iron Men, is an 8-5 choice to join the parade of Army-whippers, which includes such incongruities as Cornell and Lafayette.

HUSKIES FEAR AIR BARRAGE

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 8—The Hawks of St. Anselm are highly favored to score their third straight victory over Northeastern University here tomorrow. It will be the last game of the season for the Huskies, who have victories over Springfield and Bates to their credit.

Coach Cleo O'Donnell will start his regular lineup with Capt. Ed Boule of Worcester as the featured performer. Stan Sikorsky of Hudson, Bob Gorman of Manchester and Joe Duka of Marlboro will supplement Boule in the backfield.

The Hawk cripples in the line are now ready for action. Ernie Frechette of Waltham has returned to his guard post and Ed Surrette of Leominster is back at tackle. The Hawk line will have a distinct weight advantage on the Husky frontier.

Two Northeastern regulars will be winding up their college careers. Capt. Dean Williams at tackle and Charlie Abend at guard will be bowing out.

The Hawks are prepared for a stunning running attack from the Huskies, with Sophomore Joe Dias and Veteran Ronnie Tubbs and Ed Barry listed as chief threats. The Huskies, in turn, are worried about the St. Anselm passing attack and the open field brilliance of Dale O'Connell, the Nashua boy, who gained such favorable attention by his showing against Boston College.

OLE' MISS PRACTICES AT FENWAY

With each and every member of the party of 35 accounted for, Coach Harry Mehre led his Mississippi squad to Fenway Park for a workout prior to the Southerners' game tomorrow at Worcester with Holy Cross.

The small party arrived last night at the East Boston airport, coming all the way from Mississippi in three chartered planes. From here, the bespectacled Mehre, a Notre Dame alumnus, led his athletes to the Parker House where they will stay until the Crusader game.

The Mississippians didn't cause any rumpus upon their arrival so far as physical appearance went. But this doesn't mean a lick with them as any Bostonian who was in New Orleans in September will verify.

APPEARANCES DECEPTIVE

Alexander Junie Hovious and Merle Hapes, the Southerners' two triple threats, and Capt. George "Grumpy" Kinard failed to look anything that resembled a grid player in their civilian clothes.

Of the three, Hovious looked the smallest, being not above middle size. But it is a known fact that, with a uniform on, he is just about the fastest individual on the field.

The Miss captain, George Kinard, ace of the Rebel line and brother to Bruiser Kinard of the Brooklyn pro team, is rated by Coach Mehre as the best guard he has ever coached.

Kinard carries a well-built 200 ounds into action on husky "steps" that can be plied along at a rapid clip. Called "Grumpy" by his teammates, this brother of Bruiser—Ole Miss' first All-America as a tackle in 1936 and '37—more than lives up to his moniker, and is a great team leader.

CARRY TWO N. E. BOYS

The name "Grumpy" was given him by his coach when only a sophomore. According to Mehre, the boys got a great laugh out of it and have been calling him "Grumpy" ever since.

Following tomorrow's debacle, Mississippi will fly to New York, where, on Sunday, most of the Rebs are going to take in the New York Giants-Cleveland Rams pro game. The cause for so much interest is the fact that Parker Hall and Buster Poole, former Miss stars, play for Cleveland and the Giants, respectively.

Included in the party were two New Englanders, Johnny Pivarnik, a tackle, and Frank Thorsey, end, both of Bridgeport, Ct.

"Pivarnik came to Miss first," said Mehre, "and a year later brought Thorsey back with him."

Pivarnik will start the game at left tackle.

Vermont Students Stage Hobo Rally

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 8 (INS)—Slinging their bundles over their shoulders, the students of the University of Vermont today staged a Hobo Day, leading up to a pep rally Friday night, in anticipation of the Norwich-Vermont football game Saturday. Last autumn the first Hobo Day on the Vermont campus preceded the Middlebury-Vermont game.

Ragged trousers, patches, unshaven whiskers, uncombed locks and a disreputable appearance in general, were high style for classes and all campus activity.

Jockey Dew Adds 2 More Winners To Lead Parade

Jockey Earl Dew, riding at Bay Meadows, increased his lead to five over Jockey Wally Taylor yesterday as he booted home two winners, while Taylor drew blanks at Rockingham.

Dew started off riding home the winner in the first race at the California track and made it a riding double with the winner of the third race.

The score:

Dew 234, Taylor 229.

Favored Exeter Faces Giant Line at Andover

By SAM BROGNA

One of football's most colorful and oldest classics will be renewed tomorrow afternoon on Andover's battle scared gridiron when the two Philips institutions, Exeter and Andover meet in the 60th annual clash.

This yearly setto which started way back in 1878 and was broken twice, the last time 1895, betters by one the annual Harvard-Yale series even though the latter ivy colleges had a three-year leadway, theirs beginning in 1875.

Entering tomorrow meeting, Andover leads its ancient rival in the number of games won with 30. Exeter finished on top 24 times and five others were ties.

EXETER FAVORED

With Exeter rated much the better of the two this season, the big Red and Gray array of gridmen from New Hampshire, are favored to reach the quarter of a century mark in wins.

Lacking none of the color and lustre that accompanied the battles of their predecessors, this year's elevens should provide the aged alumni and fellow students plenty in the way of action.

Coach Bill Clark will bring down from the Granite State a team which has been burning the gridiron for the past two years. And that is exactly the length of time the former Dartmouth athlete has been coaching at Exeter.

COLBY ENDS STREAK

Since he took over, the Red and Gray rolled up 12 straight victories, but last week their string was broken by the Colby freshmen.

On this record alone the visitors are rated strong favorites. And then, too, Coach Steve Sorcia of Andover has been experiencing a 50-50 season as a number of the regulars were sidelined every game. For tomorrow's affair he will have a chance to field his first stringers together for the first time since the campaign got under way.

This gives a strong indication that Coach Clark and his gang will be in for a much tougher session than they anticipate.

Andover will present a stonewall frontier as shown during the campaign. If the opposition could score only 19 points during six games against a handicapped eleven, what can it do against a team which is at full strength? This will be settled when the lightest team in the history of Exeter stacks up against this giant line.

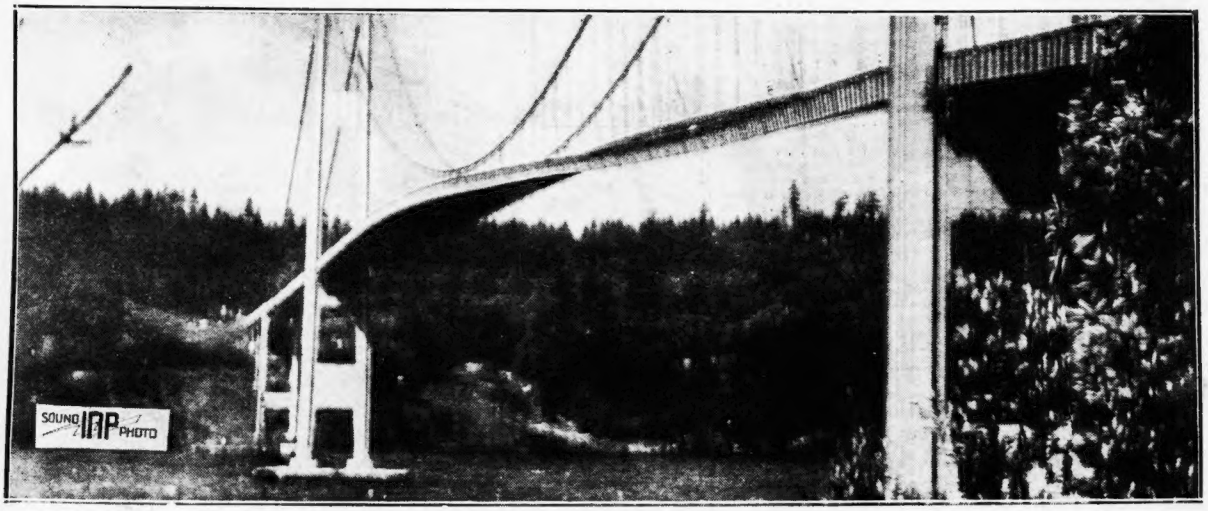
FAIR SHOWERS CLOUDY RAIN



Going... And Gone With the Wind—

Dramatic photos (above and right) record the downfall and ruin of the new $6,400,000 Tacoma Narrows Bridge in Washington . . . as it cracked up and fell with a roar 190 feet into Puget Sound after swaying crazily in a high wind. The third longest single suspension span in the world, the bridge (above) writhes, caught in the grip of a heavy gale... while (at right), the camera catches it as it hit the water. A few minutes before the bridge collapsed all traffic was halted . . . one reporter, last on the bridge, abandoned his car (arrow) and crawled to safety.
